Commons Leaders Fail In Bid to Set Program

Flag Debate Next Week?

(Times News Services)

OTTAWA — The government and opposition remained at odds on the flag issue today as Prime Minister Pearson announced the Commons legislative program for the remainder of the present session.

Five items — including the flag — were given top priority by the government. They included redistribution, the new labor code, the pension plan and departmental estimates.

Mr. Pearson said these items would have to be passed before the Christmas recess and end of the session. He gave no indication in which order these items will be introduced.

The flag issue, although included in the priority list, was shelved for at least one week. The party leaders met today but failed to reach an agreement on the legislative program.

There were reports that debate on the flag committee report might begin on Monday.

The Commons was to debate the pension plan resolution today, clearing the way for introduction of the bill, then spend the rest of the week on redistribution of electoral boundaries and on departmental estimates.

PROPOSAL BY Dief
Opposition leader Diefenbaker proposed that the government bring the original flag resolution back before the House so it could be voted on with respect to the sub amendment and amendment, which calls for a plebiscite on the issue.

This would clear the way for withdrawal of the government's original three maple leaf flag proposal from the Commons order paper.

If this was done, Mr. Diefenbaker said, the Opposition would refrain from further debate on the resolution in order to clear the way for the vote, then move on with the flag committee report which advocates adoption of the single red maple leaf design.

Mr. Pearson said the government would accept this proposal, providing there was agreement, not reached so far, on a time limit to debate on the committee's report.

30 WANT TO SPEAK
Mr. Diefenbaker reiterated his party's refusal to set a time limit, saying there were some 30 Conservatives who wished to speak to the report.

New Democrat leader T. C. Douglas called on the government to make sure the Commons monies dealt with the Pension plan, the labor code, redistribution and departmental estimates before bringing on the flag debate. He said his party was not prepared to allow these legislative items to be "sidetracked" by a prolonged flag debate.

Creditist house leader Gilles Grégoire lashed out at Diefenbaker for his "ill-will."

He maintained that, if the official opposition had attended the party leaders' meetings with good will, an understanding could have been reached.

MPs Rush To London For Vote

LONDON (CP) — Nine Labor members made a dramatic plane dash to London from Scotland tonight as the new British government marshalled all possible forces for its first big parliamentary battle.

For two hours the MPs, needed for a crucial vote on the government's proposal to nationalize the steel industry, were flogged at Glasgow's Renfrew Airport.

After an agonizing wait, the fox cleared. When the MPs finally reached London at 4 p.m. GMT (8 a.m. PST), the debate had already started. The vote was expected later today.

LABOR EXPECTS TO WIN
The Labor government is expected to win a thin victory, although it has a majority of only five seats in the House and its ranks have been hit by illness.

Two maverick Labor members, who oppose Prime Minister Harold Wilson's steel nationalization plan, have decided to support their chieftain to help defeat the Conservative no confidence motion. Their argument, a reporter was told, is that the issue is likely to drag on for several years in Parliament and there is no urgency in condemning the measure at this stage.

UN Crisis Bared By New Red Balk

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The UN financial crisis deepened today with Russia and the United States standing firm in positions headed for a political showdown at the Dec. 1 General Assembly opening.

The Soviet Union and the United Nations disclosed that Russia had filed a new note with Secretary General Thant refusing to make any payment toward the $52.6 million it owes for peace keeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

The United States had no official reaction to the latest repudiation of Russia's "not one red kopek" position. Nor was there immediate reaction to an appeal from chief S. O. Adebore of Nigeria, chairman of the UN working group on finances, to the United States, Russia, Britain and France not to force a showdown on the financial issue.

NO U.S. PLEDGE
The United States disclosed last week that it would not make its customary annual pledge — normally up to 40 per cent of the total budget — to the UN technical assistance program and the special funds for development of backward countries.

U.S. sources denied published reports that this action meant that Washington would make no payments to the UN treasury until Russia and eight other delinquents pay up.

The U.S. was expected to pay, however, only its legal assessment of 31.91 per cent of the projected 1965 budget.

NOT ILLEGAL TO BOO QUEEN

QUEBEC (CP) — Charges against two Montreal area students who were arrested for booing the Queen were dismissed in court today.

Soviet A-A Missiles Taken Over by Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Castro regime in Cuba now has at least partial control over Soviet anti-aircraft missiles on the island, a state department spokesman said today.

State department press officer Robert J. McCloskey also told a press conference that Soviet military personnel remaining in Cuba now number "no more than a few thousand."

He said they were not an organized force but an advisory and training mission.

McCloskey made these points in responding to questions about statements made by Premier Fidel Castro in an interview with the New York Times.

Castro was quoted as saying Cubans control the surface-to-air missiles which the Soviet Union installed at 24 bases at the time of the big nuclear missile crisis in 1962.

He also said Cuba was prepared to shoot down U.S. U-2 reconnaissance planes unless some legal means could be found to end the surveillance flights.

THE TROUBLES OF ERHARD

German Logic Too Perfect To Cope With New Events

Bruce Hutchison, eminent Canadian author and former Times editor, has recently completed a tour of Europe. He has written a series of articles on his observations, the second of which appears below.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
BONN — As explained by its official spokesman at Bonn, the West German government's basic policies have a perfect logic and symmetry. Doubtless they are too perfect and symmetrical to fit this imperfect and illogical world. The economic and political integration of Europe, the reunification of the severed German state, the reconciliation of the United States and France lest Germany be forced to choose between its two closest friends, and the admission of Britain to the European Common Market — these grand objectives are easily proclaimed and were proclaimed by the official spokesman with an impressive mixture of confidence and candor.

As he met me, with his excellent English accent, in a committee room adjoining the Bundestag much was happening there, and elsewhere.

Only an hour before Chancellor Erhard — a plump, solid and immensely able man who looks rather like Santa Claus with the beard shaved off — had solemnly assured a restive parliament that Nikita Khrushchev would soon arrive in Bonn and his visit would produce a softening of the Russian attitude toward German reunification.

"Oh, my crown, it is slipping," appears to be the problem as Linda Douma of Sidney receives the title Miss Canada 1965 at the pageant in Toronto Sunday. Master of ceremonies Peter Jennings is doing the honors. She was chosen from among 20 contestants from every province at the three-day pageant held in O'Keefe's Centre.

SIDNEY GIRL TOPS 20

It's a Lovely Fact; Linda 'Miss Canada'

The most beautiful girl in Canada comes from Sidney.

Tall, blue-eyed Linda Douma was named Miss Canada 1965 Sunday night, becoming the first girl from Greater Victoria and Saanich to win the title.

Nina Holden of Victoria was awarded the title in 1962, but by default, when the actual winner refused to accept the position.

Linda's success will bring fame to Sidney and the surrounding district.

She has shown that Saanich is not only famous for its gardens and scenery but beautiful girls with "oomph," poise and talent.

The 20-year-old brunet was chosen queen from among 20 contestants at the National Beauty Pageant in Toronto.

'HAPPIEST MOMENT'

As for Linda, who was judged Miss PNE in 1963, the victory was the happiest and most exciting moment in her life.

"I can't believe it. I'm so happy," was all she could say after the judges announced their decision.

Then there were tears of joy. In a telephone conversation with a friend in Victoria after the contest she said: "I'm thrilled beyond words, but oh I'm tired. I think I'll sleep all day today."

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Douma, thanked the Sidney Lions Club for sponsoring their daughter.

"We were surprised and happy," they said. Mrs. Douma said Linda's success will mean she will lose a year at the university.

"But she will continue her studies at the university next year," she said. "She is vitally interested in her education."

John E. Callard, president of the Sidney Lions Club, said he was "the happiest guy in town."

FIRST PROJECT

He and members shared the responsibility of raising funds to send Linda to Toronto. It was also the club's first project since the club was formed earlier this year.

"Some people thought Linda wouldn't stand a chance of winning because all the judges of the pageant are Easterners," he said.

Commissioner A. A. Cormack, chairman of the Sidney Village commission said: "We are proud of Linda. She is a Continued on Page 2

Vote Tests Set in East

By United Press International

Voters in two federal constituencies head for the polls today in by-elections that are expected to leave the standings in the House of Commons unchanged.

The Liberals are expected to retain their traditional seat in Westmorland, New Brunswick, vacant since the death last June of Sherwood Rideout.

At the same time, the Conservatives are favored to win in the Ontario riding of Waterloo-South which has been Conservative all but twice since 1900.

Angry Partners Accuse U.K.

GENEVA (Reuters) — Britain's partners in the European Free Trade Association today accused her of "unfair play . . . hitting below the belt" and causing a "crisis of confidence" in the seven-member organization.

Businessmen and industrialists fired these accusations at Douglas Jay, president of the British board of trade, after he had explained and defended Britain's 15-per-cent surcharge at a meeting of EFTA's consultative committee here.

Jay repeated Britain's argument that she had no alternative but to impose the temporary surcharge to help reduce its balance of payments gap. He said Britain had decided against trying to soften the impact of the import restrictions on its EFTA partners by speeding up its scheduled timetable for eliminating duties on products from these countries.

Jay said Britain had examined this idea "most carefully" but in the end it proved not practicable.

Khrushchev had disappeared from sight an hour later. China had exploded a nuclear bomb and world politics were in turmoil. German politics, too, had entered a new and dubious phase. Unknown to the chancellor at that moment, a reliable public opinion poll had concluded that his government held fractionally less electoral support than its socialist opposition.

As if all this did not provide sufficient trouble for the unflappable chancellor, President de Gaulle was secretly meditating a threat to the life of the Common Market.

Despite the shaking changes at home and abroad, the statements of the official spokesman were still valid in most respects next day and they describe Germany's fundamental policies for a long time to come, even if the Erhard government is defeated next autumn.

Here I set down the public position of the ruling Christian Democratic coalition without comment, though it is replete with omissions and doubtful assumptions, to say the best of it. Later I shall try to outline the incalculable and dangerous factors lying behind the bland party line.

Passionate Denial

When I asked whether Germany wished to make a united Europe into a "third force" standing between the United States and Russia (the true meaning of Gaullist strategy), the spokesman passionately denied any such intention.

On the contrary, the German government regarded a politically unified Europe as the second essential pillar of a strong Western world, the first pillar being the United States.

"We wish," he said, "to make Europe a partner, not a rival or competitor of the United States."

With deliberate understatement, I asked why the new treaty between Germany and France did not appear to be working satisfactorily. The spokesman answered, rather sharply, that this historic pact had worked very well in many areas but he admitted that in others "we have not yet reached the aims of the treaty. But remember that the treaty is unique, its aims are very high and we cannot expect to achieve them all quickly."

"For example, we have been unable as yet to develop a unanimous defence policy within NATO, or in Southeast Asia, or in some aspects of Europe itself, but the process of conciliation goes on and there is a firm desire on both sides (Germany and France) to make progress."

When I politely posed the central crisis of German policy, the spokesman retorted, somewhat indignantly, that his government did not accept for a moment the widespread belief that Germany must choose in the end between France and the United States, since "we are allies and friends of both."

Germany's welfare, he argued, could best be assured by the reconciliation of American and French policy, the overriding German need at the moment. Given that rapprochement, it would be much easier than it has been so far to make the German-French treaty work successfully.

On this account the German government attached great importance to the projected visit of President Johnson to Bonn, probably in the first months of 1965. It must not be forgotten that the friendship between the United States and France was old and deep. It should facilitate the adjustment of current differences in policy.

Against that background, the spokesman said his government was "pretty hopeful" about the prospects of the Kennedy Round of tariff negotiations, even though the Common Market had failed, until now, to agree on a common price and a common external tariff for cereals.

The German government, he emphasized, had always taken the position that its own internal farm problems must not prevent the success of a new, world-wide tariff bargain.

He agreed that earlier this year a serious inflation in Europe had threatened serious danger to the Common Market's exports but lately the rate of price increases had moderated and "the steam pressure is down."

Taking the spokesman to be about 40 years of age, I asked a final question: Did he expect to see the re-unification of Germany in his own lifetime? "Without the slightest hesitation," he replied, "I say yes."

Why? Because "the natural development of peoples behind the Iron Curtain moves in the direction of self-determination." This movement, he believed, had begun already to alter the power balance of Europe. Moreover, it was becoming clearer every day that "so long as Germany is divided there will always be uncertainty, unrest and sorrow, but if we are granted re-unification it will prove to be a source of satisfaction to both sides."

All these broad, sleek generalities masked the most urgent problem of Germany which, as the next dispatch will explain, is to save the Common Market and the hope of a unified Europe from President de Gaulle.

(Second of a Series)

Eager for Entry

In answer to my first question the authorized deputy of the chancellor said that Germany was eager for Britain's entry into the Common Market and would do everything possible to facilitate it. Already the German government had drafted new proposals designed to overcome the French veto of British membership and Britain's objections to some aspects of the Rome Treaty.

These plans had not been disclosed in detail, so far, because the German government wished to discuss them with its partners of the Common Market and seek their advance approval. The major problem was to satisfy France, which opposed British membership, and Holland, which was unwilling to consider further European political unification until Britain had been admitted.

The new German compromise, the spokesman added, must proceed in orderly phases but at all times the door to Britain's entry "would be kept open." In any case, the problems so far excluding Britain were "negotiable." But if these problems were to be solved, "everyone must to his bit."

Germany, he went on, was working persistently to promote charming and talented young lady and, as Miss Canada, she will be a worthy ambassador wherever she goes."

David Lawson, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said Linda is a credit to both Sidney and Victoria.

Alan McLean, commissioner of the Victoria Bureau, was delighted.

There were three persons in Sidney who were not in the least surprised by Linda's success.

Mrs. Vivian Cowan, Mrs. Lil Hunt and Miss Phyllis Levar, who were in charge of the Miss Sidney Contest in 1963 and who helped send Linda to the PNE where she was chosen queen, predicted at the time that Linda would become Miss Canada.

"We had a feeling that's where she would end up," said Mrs. Cowan. "When she left for Toronto we knew she was out to win."

As winner of the pageant, Linda's prizes include a $1,000 scholarship and a $5,000 list of such tokens as a watch, necklace, console radio phonograph, three weeks vacation in Hawaii and a complete wardrobe.

She is also guaranteed a job that will pay a minimum of $5,000 for one year. This entails attending public functions in all parts of Canada and the United States.

Eighteen-year-old Joan Clarkin of Montreal, who was McGill University's new Queen, was second in the judging and the 1963 Miss Calgary Stampeder, Karl Johnassen, 19, of Calgary, came third.

Linda's vital statistics are 34-24-35. She stands five feet nine inches and weighs 127 pounds.

The judges based their decision on the contestant's appearance and poise in both bathing suits and evening gowns and on a talent competition.

Linda gave a rendition of a traditional folk song. Singing and music are two of her favorite subjects.

IN LIQUOR STORE FOOFERAW

'Pussy-Footing' Blamed

Another Saanich council candidate has fired off a burst in the Saanich liquor store war. Alan J. Newberry, 4274 Parkside, says, Saanich hasn't a liquor store because of the "pussy-footing" attitude of Saanich Council.

Newberry, 27, is principal of Saseenos Elementary School. He says municipal planners recommended a liquor store be opened in the area of the Town and Country shopping centre.

The government rejected the recommendation, "and council did not stand firm," said Mr. Newberry.

'PUSHED AROUND'

"They allowed themselves to be pushed around by the provincial government. The result? No liquor store."

Food Poisoning Blamed in Deaths

CRANBROOK (CP) — Food poisoning is suspected in the deaths this week of two children in the East Kootenay area, authorities in Cranbrook say.

Mr. Newberry says it is unfair to Liquor Control Board chairman Col. Donald McGugan and the public to have a one-man board.

Such a system means Col. McGugan "is put in an undesirable position by being susceptible to pressure groups," he says.

Mr. Newberry is one of 10 candidates seeking three council seats in the Dec. 12 municipal election.

The other nine are school teacher Pat Thomas, incumbents Coun. Leslie Passmore and Coun. Harold Todd, Edward Lum, Harry Shergold, Edward Ball, Erling Olson, Donald Mathison and Lionel Speller. Incumbent Coun. Joseph Casey has not decided yet whether to run.

Good weather and fresh breezes greeted the frostbite racers of Royal Victoria Yacht Club Saturday, the opening day of its 1964-65 season.

The weekend program of three Davidson class and three El Toro class races served as a warm-up for cup competition which begins in earnest this weekend.

Ned Ashe proved he looks ready to defend his Davidson title in winning two races and placing second in the other.

Norman Marcus, who won the other race, placed second overall in the day's standings. D. T. Rochford had a second and a third and John Todd gained two thirds.

Jack Woodward topped skippers in the smaller El Toros in the over-all standings, nipping Shirley Jefferson by one point.

Mrs. Marguerite Townshend placed third, three points behind the leader, and Harry Armstrong was fourth.

'PRESSURE HOSPITALS'

Martin Pushes For More Beds

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—The B.C. government is going to pressure hospitals to provide more beds, Health Minister Eric Martin said here Saturday.

'You've Seen Nothing Yet' Says Premier

VANCOUVER—New multi-million forest industries are in the works for B.C., Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Saturday. "You've seen nothing, yet," he told the windup banquet of the Social Credit League convention here.

He predicted the new projects will involve tens of millions of dollars worth of investment.

Principals from the interested group held talks with him during the convention, Mr. Bennett said.

He told reporters afterwards that they represent "a great new group" involved in the forest industry.

But he declined to identify them.

MORE THAN ONE
Nor would he say what projects they are considering, except that more than one may be involved in more than one area of B.C.

He said he first met the industrialists in Victoria a few days ago.

They had a second meeting, along with resources minister Ray Williston in Vancouver Friday.

Mr. Bennett said the contact was the result of his recent trip to the European continent.

He said the European group is "one of the largest in the business."

"The government doesn't build hospitals, but we get blamed," he told the Social Credit League convention.

"I have taken it long enough. We are going to pressure these people."

Mr. Martin said not enough beds are being provided to keep up with demands.

He did not mention any specific hospitals.

FEES DOUBLED

The convention also decided that it will cost more to join Social Credit.

Party membership fees were doubled to $2 a year, or $5 for a four-year membership.

However, the Socreds decided not to throw any more money around for homeowners.

The convention turned down resolutions which would have urged extension of the homeowner grant to people who own homes but don't live in them.

It also rejected allowing ministers to get the grant if they live in a church manse.

FREE RIDES

A resolution calling for free bus rides for old age pensioners except in rush hours was approved for the second year running.

Another urging the government to encourage more coastal shipping facilities, and it necessary step in to provide them itself, was also approved.

Rites Tuesday For 58-Year Sooke Resident

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m. at Sands Chapel of Health, Colwood, for Thomas Franklyn Wright, a resident of Sooke for 58 years.

He died Friday, aged 74.

Mr. Wright was born in King's Lynn, England, and served in the Royal Navy on HMS Rainbow and HMS Royal George.

He is survived by the widow, Winnifred at home, 2018 Dover Road, a daughter, Mrs. Winnifred Townsend of Victoria and relatives in England.

Curtis, A. W. Toone and Cecil Pagnatt—and Mrs. Evelyn MacKenzie, are expected to run too. Mr. Dickie said if elected he would strive to hold the mill rate down "to encourage capital to come in and redevelop the old areas of the city privately".

Mr. Dickie said he was running "partly because I have the time and partly because I think there isn't enough business representation on the council—most of them work for large organizations".

'Acts Like Princely Duchy'

VANCOUVER — A critical telegram has been sent Canadian Pacific Railway directors in Victoria, likening the company to a "princely duchy."

Ron Basford, Liberal MP for Vancouver-Burrard, urged the CPR to review its policies on land use and track usage in False Creek and along Burrard Inlet.

The railway's present policies were "creating a collar of stagnation around the industrial and business heart of Vancouver."

The company "has often appeared to act like a princely duchy which can operate without consideration of the needs of the city it is supposed to serve."

A trestle across False Creek probably was illegal under the federal Navigable Waters Protection Act and should be replaced.

Mr. Basford also called on the CPR to take "better than two-thirds of the blame for the present chaotic condition" in the city's downtown core.

He said the company owns or leases more than two-thirds of the False Creek area.

GOP Keeps Squabbling Over Election Disaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Governor George Romney has criticized Richard M. Nixon for his criticism of New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

And to any of his fellow Republicans who had been criticizing defeated Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater and calling for new party leadership, Romney had this to say as barbs continued to ricochet around the party:

"I think that Senator Goldwater has demonstrated in the past his concern about the Republican party as a whole and I think it's premature to assume it's going to be necessary to find some way around Senator Goldwater."

Romney, who had declined to endorse Goldwater's candidacy, was a big winner last Tuesday in his bid for re-election as governor—a victory that has stirred some speculation that he might be a future Republican presidential nominee possibility.

He repeated in a radio interview in Detroit Sunday that he took his Goldwater stand because of "basic principle differences" with the Arizona. He said he respected Goldwater as an individual.

As for Nixon, Romney said: "When you're trying to unify something, you don't begin to say things that will create greater feeling and division. You undertake to include those who are in a position to make a contribution."

The Nixon-Rockefeller exchange had stirred things up in the Republican camp last week. Nixon charged that Rockefeller was a "divider," had not backed Goldwater as Nixon had and had gotten "his pound of flesh."

Rockefeller fired back that Nixon was a poor loser and "peevish" in his remarks. Romney's comments came as an Associated Press survey showed that many influential leaders in the Republican Party were looking to Nixon, a former vice-president, to take a leading role in rebuilding the party following its debacle in last Tuesday's election.

The Dissenter

THE RIFT BETWEEN FRANCE and the United States over NATO policies was widened with last week's exchange of comments.

General de Gaulle is not only questioning the United States plan for a nuclear missile fleet to be manned by representatives of all NATO members, he reportedly is questioning the value of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization itself. The French leader is said to view the NATO defensive system as outworn and useful only in wartime. This may well be a reaction to the rebuff he suffered when his earlier proposal to have NATO controlled by a small elite committee of the major powers was rejected.

The United States, for its part, has published a sharp reply to French attacks on the nuclear fleet plan. Washington suggests, in effect, that if President de Gaulle doesn't like American proposals he should advance some better ones himself. The controversy over military aspects of the NATO structure recalls earlier warnings, by Prime Minister Pearson and others, that NATO, to survive in peacetime, would have to include more than merely military objectives.

The original concept of NATO, apart from its mutual defence purposes, included equally close co-operation by the North Atlantic nations in trade and cultural fields. This aspect of the NATO agreement has never been given much more than passing acknowledgement, although the special international committee of "three wise men" headed by Mr. Pearson a few years ago made action in this area a major recommendation.

Now the organization is feeling the stress of a predominantly military defence grouping under conditions of diminishing military threat.

President de Gaulle's recalcitrance is not, of course, confined to the NATO system. He is equally at odds with his partners of the European Common Market and threatens to terminate France's association with this economic group unless he can get his way. His chief protest in this case is that West Germany has not opened its borders to French agricultural products, but still maintains protection for its own farmers, who cannot compete with France's lower-cost output.

The de Gaulle course, if persisted in, seems destined to divide France from its allies and create a new danger and a new question mark over Europe. The world is obviously not yet in a condition in which western Europe can afford to become fragmented. It is difficult to see any future for a France separated from its neighbors either spiritually or practically, yet President de Gaulle shows little intention of accepting a compromise where his opinion clashes with another's. Can the West be internally harmonious only under the spur of outside threats and dangers?

The Soviet Marketplace

WHILE THE QUESTION OF where Russia will go under its new leaders is being carefully and even anxiously pondered in various world capitals, part of the answer has already been given in a little-noticed directive issued by Premier Kosygin and Party Secretary Brezhnev.

Shortly after deposing former Soviet leader Khrushchev, the two new chiefs ordered that approximately one-third of all Soviet shoe and clothing factories were to switch over to making products designed to meet the demands of the market rather than the demands of central planners.

This may not seem like much of a change; in fact it is a revolutionary one which could effect a profound transformation of the Soviet economy if it is successful. If it fails, then Messrs. Kosygin and Brezhnev may go the way of Mr. Khrushchev.

There have been many reasons given for Mr. Khrushchev's forced retirement but chief among them seems to have been the slowdown in Soviet economic growth. An unbalanced heavy industry program, farm production problems, dissatisfaction with the output of consumer goods, both in quality and quantity — all combined to drop the Soviet growth rate to the lowest levels in 15 years, according to western economic analysts.

Soviet economists have made no secret of the reason for this state of affairs. It has been the result, they have said, of output being wasted by inefficiency of both management and planning. Mr. Khrushchev harped on this theme constantly, but never quite got around to challenging the conservative element in the Soviet ruling circle which stubbornly clung to the belief that more massive central planning would end the problem of productive drop-off. He made a few tentative moves toward ending the complete centralization of Soviet industry but he never went so far as to decree that the marketplace should play a role in planning output.

This step has been taken by the new leaders who have, in effect, told certain factories to find out what their customers want, manufacture it, and sell it at a profit which will be the criterion of performance. This will call for individual initiative on the part of factory managers not only in researching the market but also in selling their products. This process has never before been part of the Soviet economy.

If this quite historic trend away from Marxist economics works it will obviously be expanded into other areas of consumer production. If the discipline of the market successfully transforms consumer goods production by making it more efficient and profitable, there is no reason why it should not be expanded into capital goods production, for instance, allowing the factory managers who need new machinery to choose what will best suit their particular circumstances.

Initially, and in the economic field at least, the new Soviet leaders have chosen to move further along liberal lines than Mr. Khrushchev was willing or able to go. If Premier Kosygin and Party Secretary Brezhnev retain their authority for any length of time the changes in the Soviet Union could be startling.

A Wider Loyalty

ECONOMIC REGIONALISM AS a planned concept is relatively new to Canada although it has existed in fact almost since Confederation. Whether or not the concept should be formalized is a matter which will likely emerge as a topic for much debate as a result of a meeting recently between Premier Manning of Alberta and Premier Roblin of Manitoba at which they agreed to explore the possibility of establishing a prairie provinces economic council.

The idea is somewhat similar to the already existing Atlantic provinces council which is now ten years old and its purpose would be, as Premier Manning described it, "to establish closer co-operation between the three prairie provinces, and to co-ordinate various programs to the advantage of the whole region."

Although the plan has just entered the exploration stage, it has reportedly won wide acceptance in principle. Premier Thatcher of Saskatchewan said he thought the idea had much merit and he was ready to enter into discussions with the other premiers. Leaders of opposition parties in the three provinces have also expressed themselves as generally in favor.

One question which is sure to arise as a result of this proposal is whether economic co-operation will eventually lead to political amalgamation both in the Atlantic and prairie regions to supplement what is already a fairly widespread community of purpose.

Saved Again!

AMONG THOSE SCARCELY noticed in the United States election campaign was Henry Krajewski, the pig-farmer-turned-tavern-keeper of Secaucus, N.J., who offered himself as a poor man's candidate against two millionaires seeking the presidency.

The wire services have not indicated how many votes he polled, but they have noted that a major program he advocated called for the annexation of Canada by the United States.

Because he styled himself "the poor man's candidate" we scarcely expect Wall Street to take him aside to explain: "Henry, you're going about this thing the wrong way."

Little Firepower in Tories' Thompson Hunt

MR. THOMPSON'S mission to Africa had the side benefit last week of affording the Conservatives in Parliament temporary relief from the contemplation of their serious internal problems. For the critics, however, it was a joyous excursion into irrelevancy since the grievance, such as it is, should properly be directed to Mr. Thompson rather than to the government.

Except perhaps for a few isolationist Creditistes, everyone in the House of Commons heartily approves of the programs through which Canada, in collaboration with other advanced countries, is seeking to promote the educational and economic development of various African states. Whenever such matters are raised in Parliament opposition members, far from criticizing such admirable schemes, virtuously assert that Canada should do more while government members, equally virtuously, point out that more is now being spent for these purposes than was the case when the Conservatives were in office.

FROM WASHINGTON

The Price of Surrender at San Francisco

THE returns have confirmed in a remarkable way the findings of the national polls, particularly the Gallup and the Harris. They reported that Johnson and Humphrey would win by a majority in the range between 60 and 70 per cent of the votes cast, and that this would give them a landslide majority in the Electoral College. The returns confirm also the predictions of the leading anti-Goldwater Republicans, notably Governors Rockefeller and Scranton, who warned their party that the nomination of Goldwater would be a devastating blow to the Republican Party in the leading Republican states of the east and middle west.

At the same time the returns prove the falsity of the claim, which has been put forward since the Roosevelt days, that there is a great, silent latent majority of "conservative" Republicans who will emerge as soon as the Republican Party turns its back on "inequality" and offers them "a choice."

The Johnson majority is indisputable proof that the preponderant mass of the American voters are in the center, inside the two extremes, and that the reason the Democrats win is that Kennedy and Johnson have worked carefully and deliberately to make the Democratic Party represent the center.

This surely is the primary mandate of the 1964 election, a mandate to both parties to seek their strength and define their issues within, not against, the prevailing consensus. Senator Goldwater took the Republican Party down to a catastrophic defeat because he made himself the leader, or at least the rallying point, of an extremist rebellion against the will of the great majority of Americans. The will of the majority has prevailed over him.

Will of the Majority

The election is a resounding vote of confidence in the capacity of President Johnson to represent the will of the great majority. The campaign did not produce a preview of what his administration will do about the myriad of specific problems which it will have to deal with. The campaign did not produce a debate about specific programs, and this was fortunate. For the real business of the campaign was not to map out a course for the future. It was to beat and crush a rebellion against the established and accepted line of domestic and foreign policy which was laid down in the generation which followed the great depression and the Second World War.

Policies Awaited

It is too early, and in fact beside the point, to attempt to read into the returns an outline of the policies of the Johnson administration. It is too early also to attempt to read into the Republican disaster a prescription for the party's salvation and survival.

But the first lesson for the Republicans is clear—that they will not prosper if they surrender, as they did at San Francisco, and do not stand up for their own beliefs. The returns, which leave the Republican Party with virtually nothing more than a handful of states, won by racist votes, is a squalid and humiliating consequence of the San Francisco surrender.

What Johnson should do with his victory and what the Republicans can do with their defeat is as yet unanswered: it is rather like trying on the morning after an earthquake to select the curtains and the rugs for the houses which will be built when the damage has been studied and the dust has settled.

A Significant Turkish Trip to Moscow

THE Turkish foreign minister, Feridun Erkin, now in Moscow, is paying the first visit by a Turkish foreign minister to the Soviet Union in 25 years.

With the recent violent outbursts of anti-western, particularly anti-American, feeling in Turkey it has made some people wonder where the country is heading.

Turkish leaders have recently stoutly reaffirmed their attachment to the Western alliances of NATO and CENTO, of which Turkey is member (the only country which is a member of both). Reports that Turkey will "go neutralist" are almost certainly premature.

There have been strong influences driving Turkey to a foreign policy which is more independent of the West.

Cyprus Reaction

First, Cyprus. The Turks have felt deeply mortified because their Western allies, and especially the United States, have failed to support her case over Cyprus, and have lately appeared to favor the idea of Enosis, or union of Cyprus with Greece (with compensation for Turkey, it is true). But there is firm opposition in Turkey to Enosis.

The Russians, on the other hand, have publicly declared their opposition to Enosis—and the curious fact has been emerging in recent months, still perhaps to some extent unrealized in the West, that Ankara and Moscow have a common policy here.

One had always supposed that Turkey and Russia were on opposite sides in the Cyprus dispute—but now we see these two old enemies standing increasingly together.

Change of Thought

This has come about because there has been a marked change of thinking inside the Turkish government recently: on the question of the solution for Cyprus. Only a short time ago, the Turks seemed to be considering Enosis, on the ground that to make Cyprus part of Greece, and therefore a part of NATO, was the safest way to prevent the island from going Communist.

In the summer of this year there was a great deal of talk in Ankara about the danger of a "Mediterranean Cuba."

There is no more of this talk now, and Turkish official thinking has veered right away from an Enosis-NATO solution, back to the idea of a neutralized independent Cyprus.

How did this happen? First, Turkey feels that this is the settlement of the problem most likely to be popular in the U.N. general assembly, which will discuss Cyprus this winter. Secondly, Turkey knows this solution is one which is acceptable to the Soviet Union, and the Communist bloc generally.

A few days ago the Turkish official newspaper Ulus wrote that Turkey would prefer to see Cyprus a "semi-Cuba" than to see the island united with Greece. This reverses the line adopted in Ankara only a few weeks back, when it was officially considered that one of the greatest dangers was that Cyprus should become some kind of Communist base.

Thus one of the reasons why Erkin is rushing to Moscow is undoubtedly because he wants to discuss Cyprus with the Russians. He will try to get their support for a Cyprus solution on Turkish lines, or at least one which will not side with Greece, before the U.N. meets in December.

The other main subject which will almost certainly be discussed in the Turco-Russian talks is what is officially described as "economic co-operation" between the two countries.

Colossal Debts

Turkey owes colossal debts to the West, a millstone hung round her neck by the Menderes regime, and the interest she has to pay on these debts—which in 1965 alone will amount to 215 million dollars—makes her already precarious economic situation far worse. Curiously, in her trade balance with the Russians, Turkey is a creditor to the extent of several million dollars (the exact figure is not clear).

It is clear that Turkey has come to appreciate, like Iran and Pakistan, that greater independence of the West, and closer friendship with Russia, gives her a position of "leverage" with her allies which she did not possess before. (London Observer Service)

Little Firepower in Tories' Thompson Hunt

MR. THOMPSON'S mission to Africa had the side benefit last week of affording the Conservatives in Parliament temporary relief from the contemplation of their serious internal problems. For the critics, however, it was a joyous excursion into irrelevancy since the grievance, such as it is, should properly be directed to Mr. Thompson rather than to the government.

Except perhaps for a few isolationist Creditistes, everyone in the House of Commons heartily approves of the programs through which Canada, in collaboration with other advanced countries, is seeking to promote the educational and economic development of various African states. Whenever such matters are raised in Parliament opposition members, far from criticizing such admirable schemes, virtuously assert that Canada should do more while government members, equally virtuously, point out that more is now being spent for these purposes than was the case when the Conservatives were in office.

There is, nevertheless, some point in checking results against expenditures to ascertain whether any changes might profitably be made in these programs. Mr. Thompson, on his visit to Africa, is to make various enquiries and submit recommendations to the government on his return. Whether the government accepts the recommendations or not is, of course, up to the ministers who are responsible to Parliament.

Knows Country

Why should Mr. Thompson, the leader of an opposition party or fragment, be selected for this task? The obvious reason is that he knows, or ought to know, Africa better than any other member of Parliament.

Not only did he serve out there in various capacities for some 17 years but he was in fact director of provincial education and minister of education in the imperial Ethiopian government between 1947 and 1951. The more disagreeable critics on Parliament Hill at one time subscribed to the theory that Mr. Thompson was considerably more familiar with Africa than he was with Canadian affairs.

In addition, the Red Deer member has taken a particular interest, as Hansard shows, in the plight of the Stanleyville hostages (including 26 Canadians). There is some hope that, through his African contacts, he may be able to break through the curtain which up to now has prevented the Red Cross from obtaining any access to these people.

It is, no doubt, unusual that a government should seek the advice or enlist the good offices of an opposition member, especially when he happens to be the leader of a group on Mr. Speaker's left. But there is no reason of principle to bar ministers from seeking advice where they can find it. Nor is this case without precedent. It was the practice originally to choose members of Canadian UN delegations from all parties and this was abandoned not because it involved difficulties for the government but because opposition members were fearful that such service might impair their status as critics in Parliament.

Unembarrassed in UN

Curiously enough, members have not always shown the concern which one might expect to emphasize that they serve at the UN merely as parliamentary observers. Thus we read in the parliamentary guide that Mr. Diefenbaker was "member of the Canadian delegation to the UN in New York, 1963." There is a similar reference to Mr. Dinsdale's service in 1955.

It may well be, as Mr. Stanley Knowles argued, that in view of the wording of the Senate and House of Commons Act, an order-in-council should be passed to prevent Mr. Thompson's position. But this was not the point of Conservative protests.

If the Conservatives have a case, which seems doubtful, it lies against Mr. Thompson and not against the government. They certainly have a political grievance against the Social Credit leader because he has declined to join in Mr. Diefenbaker's skirmishes and filibusters against the ministry.

Formerly a Virtue

But what is now a vice in Conservative eyes was, it will be remembered, a virtue when Mr. Thompson first announced in the days of the minority Diefenbaker government that business should take precedence over politics.

In the nature of things, we can probably expect a charge that Mr. Thompson has compromised his independence by accepting this mission. This is primarily a matter for Mr. Thompson, his group and his electors. The defence committee, which was also to make recommendations, visited Europe at government expense in the course of its studies. But there has been no convincing evidence that the Conservative and New Democratic members of this group parted with their independence when they journeyed overseas. They appear to have emerged unscathed from their experience and there would seem to be a good chance that Mr. Thompson will also return with his judgment unimpaired.

The Pay Doesn't Fit

My brother is a Ph.D. in a branch of engineering.

On his way to that degree he worked for a time as a "mucker."

This is as manual a work as could be. But his pay as a mucker was higher for some years' time than it was as an engineer with good mining companies, with a B.Sc. and Ph.D.

Are not many of us concluding pay does not fit work done.

Let's Have a Vote

I should appreciate very much to see an end to this continual wrangle re the flag.

It is a well known fact that there is quite a division of opinion among the public as a whole, both for and against the change.

Let us put a stop to all this time and money-wasting and put the issue up to a vote of the people and may the best side win.

It is high time this was done. Let us be broadminded and cease this playing up for the votes of a radical minority.

If this new flag is such a sure-fire winner why be afraid of a public ballot?

A Piano for Victoria

I should like to endorse the recent comments concerning Victoria's concert grand piano.

It is time that something were done to retire this once-fine veteran of the concert stage; my conviction comes both as a listener and performer during the past seven days. The great Richter was ill-served to be given such an instrument on which to perform, and it is no small measure of his fantastic ability that he was able to provide such a magnificent concert last week. One could hardly blame him if he were to refuse to return to Victoria; this would be our shame and our loss, the more so as this city is making such considerable efforts to raise its cultural standard.

At a public recital I have just used the piano again, as on previous occasions, and I was struck by how much the instrument seems to have deteriorated in the past year. The action is extremely uneven and unreliable, making a pianissimo a risky affair in which notes either fail to sound or individually clang out. In addition, when the damper pedal is used, several notes tend to stick, though whether this is due to oversight in maintenance I would not be prepared to say. The treble end is thin and undistinguished in tone, but the bass, as might be expected in such a large instrument, remains powerful and can muster a grand roar of sound.

Your correspondent, Miss Wootton, makes a worthwhile suggestion that a fund be established for a splendid new piano which could be made available for public recital. Would the Times be interested in organizing a campaign so that, who knows, with the opening of the new Civic Centre, a fine instrument might become a reality for Victoria? There could be little doubt that many individuals and our keen musical organizations would get behind such a scheme, and help provide the necessary financial backing.

In fairness, I think a word of commendation should go to the department store which owns the piano—I know from experience that they have made the piano available for many years on a cost-only basis to charitable organizations. We should take note of this, but while thanking them, point out in a kindly manner that this veteran's days are fast coming to an end.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

Bruce Hutchison and George Bain are a contrast in personality as marked as that between Lester Pearson and John Diefenbaker. The only obvious link between their recent books is that each is by a Canadian and largely about politicians. Hutchison's Mr. Prime Minister, 1867-1964, is in an old tradition. Bain's I've Been Around and Around and Around begins a new one. It seems to me that it represents a coming of age in Canadian comment, whereas the Hutchison book merely reaffirms what most of us have known for a long time: That the author is both a colorful, exciting writer and a gross partisan of the Liberal party.

Bain's book is the second within a year by a member of the Parliamentary Press Gallery. It won't have the impact or cause the fuss of the other, Peter Newman's Renegade in Power. Indeed, there are affinities, particularly in style and imagery, between Hutchison and Newman, that never enter one's mind as you chuckle through Bain. The juncture of Bain and Newman comes in the professional-ism of each.

Newman showed an American kind of professionalism in a topical book full of action and without the usual Canadian caution in judgments. We have been able to categorize Canadian writers for too long with adjectives such as "earnest" or "sincere" or "responsible" or "sound." Such labelling never enters your head with Bain or Newman. Each has an untypical daring. Now that Bain is at work and on the record I feel that Canadian federal politics can never be again quite so stuffy.

This is not dissimilar from my feeling that post-Renegade in Power no Canadian politician can ignore the possibility of a rapid and biting dissection of his performance. This is almost as striking evidence that we are maturing as is our present, open preoccupation with a new flag.

Mr. Bain's book is a collection of humorous columns written at Ottawa, London, Washington, etc. This means there is too much variety for consistent themes, other than the continuing satirical tone. One forgives Mr. Bain this hippety-hoppety effect and the chore of forcing yourself to return to situations which are no longer topical, partly because he so lacks the egocentricity of the pundit and more because politicians have such a common openness to caricature in all countries.

Bruce Hutchison's book, say the Ottawa talkers, is his bid for a Senate seat from his pal, Lester Pearson. This seems plausible, at least on the grounds that the author concludes his series of character sketches with an over-kind estimate of the present prime minister.

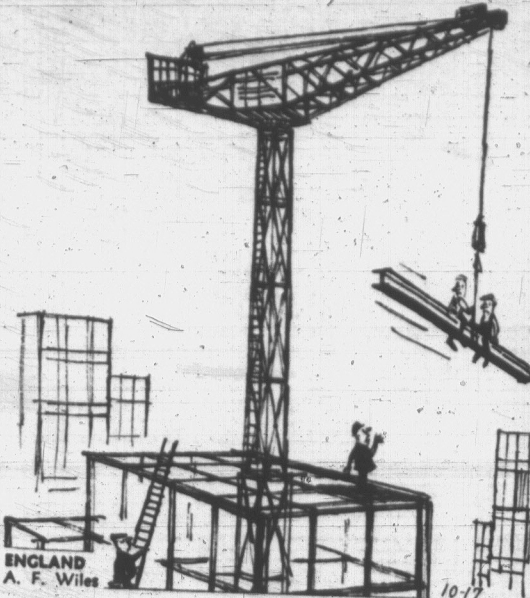

Everything that has gone wrong with the Liberals, in opposition and government, since '58 has been some other rascal's fault—Jack Pickersgill's or Walter Gordon's or Keith Davey's. All the good things stem from good old Mike.

In a nutshell Mr. Prime Minister is an entertaining book and mildly informative about our leaders and political history, until Mr. Diefenbaker is reached. Then the author takes up the usual Liberal hatchet, Mr. Hutchison has had an obsession with money and stability and sound financing for many years. Along with it has gone a pessimism about mass democracy.

This man believes completely in the rule of an enlightened elite, almost all of whom since Sir John A. have been federal Liberals. I stumbled on these features of Hutchison thought many years ago in The Hollow Men, the only novel of the author.

Once you accept his view of the ideal Canadian politician his book becomes a masterpiece and its author the most eminently suitable prospect for the Senate in the country. Mr. Pearson should give him his reward and have him close at hand.

'Survival of Honor Put Before Royalty'

PHNOM-PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, declared today he would adopt communism if necessary to protect his country's borders.

"Our enemies hope that our qualities as royalists and nationalists will finally prevent us from taking a grave step which would lead us without doubt to communism," Sihanouk declared in a harshly anti-U.S. speech marking Cambodia's 11th independence day.

"I say boldly that for 6,000,000 Cambodians... survival of country and national honor come, and will always come, before attachment to monarchy," Sihanouk also called for a four-nation meeting to compel the United States "to accept a peaceful solution in our region and to prevent war in South Viet Nam from degenerating into an international conflict."

The prince proposed that "patriotic movements of North Viet Nam, South Viet Nam and Laos" meet in Cambodia for an Indochinese peoples' conference. The strong pro-Communist tone of the speech indicated Sihanouk had in mind the Communist Pathet Lao from Laos and the Communist Viet Cong from South Viet Nam and not the anti-Communist regimes backed by the United States.

'WORLD WOULD LISTEN'

Such a meeting, he said, would "make the world listen to the voice of our peoples who demand peace — that peace which the Americans have stolen from us in throwing to the ground the Geneva agreements."

"Unfortunately," he continued, "we have only little hope of seeing the United States, those mainly responsible for un-

NO HEAT ON BARRY

LONDON (UPI) — The likeness of defeated Republican candidate Barry Goldwater has been removed from Madame Tussaud's waxworks, it was reported Sunday.

The Sunday Mirror quoted a spokesman at the waxworks as saying, "Goldwater will not be melted down. We will put him to one side in case he comes in useful later on."

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

News that a pure gold bathtub is to be installed in a new resort hotel on the popular Izu Peninsula in Japan brings back memories of many different tubs I bathed in when I was in that country a few years ago.

Living with Japanese people and in Japanese inns during most of the time I was there, I soon discovered that they were very fond of "furo," or hot water bath, which they took frequently.

One of my clearest recollections of this type of bathing is of a large inn at the seaport town of Beppu on the island of Kyushu.

We arrived in the late evening, tired and dusty, after a train journey from the north. In the same party—but not with us—were three young American service couples, on their first leave in Japan.

As soon as we were settled in our rooms (no furniture, just a low table and cushions on the floor), the proprietor was at the door to ask about "bath."

Kneeling on the threshold, he explained where "woman's bath" was located. When we were exploring to get our bearings, we found it was at the end of a corridor beyond a long room in which it was obvious Japanese businessmen were having a geisha party.

Western Curiosity

About the time we discovered this interesting tidbit and were making plans to take "bath" singly, in order to learn as much as we could about such affairs, the proprietor evidently remembered the curiosity of Western women.

He was back on the doorstep to make profuse apologies and to hold out another suggestion.

"You like men's bath?" is what he said. Dead silence.

"You . . . (he gestured at the three of us) . . . and you" . . . he nodded across the hallway at the American servicemen's wives, who were standing in the doorway of the room assigned to them) . . . "go together. Me give you men's bath one-half hour."

It was a temptation, for we knew "men's bath" was always much more elaborate than "women's."

"Where men?" someone questioned hesitantly.

The proprietor's head touched the floor.

"You go now . . . no men. I post guard at door."

We nodded our consent and he scurried off along the corridor to warn the men to get out of the bathroom.

When we arrived in our colorful yukata (cotton kimono) the place was empty. Six women had the "men's bathroom" all to themselves.

I must explain here that Japanese people do not soap themselves in the bathtub. They use soap away from the tub, usually as they sit or stand at a row of taps placed along a wall opposite the tub. They soap and rinse, then get into the tub, filled with hot, hot water, to relax and to gossip with others bathing with them. This can be repeated a couple or more times before they leave the bathroom.

Three Rooms in Bath

There were actually three rooms in "men's bath" at that Beppu inn. The first was a powder room complete with mirrors, dressing tables, men's toiletries, and many lacquer trays to hold their folded kimono; the second was a soaping room with rows of shiny taps around the walls, stools in front of each and huge wooden bowls to hold water for sloshing off the soap.

The third room held the sunken tub (swimming pool we'd call it here).

This room was as large as the ground floor space of any small home in Victoria. Two walls were pale yellow tiles and the other two were solid glass from floor to ceiling. As the inn was high above the harbor and on the edge of a steep cliff, the view was spectacular—velvet dark, sprinkled with golden lights.

Tub itself was lined with pale green tiles. The water was steaming hot and like silk against the skin.

We swam. We floated. We sat with the ripples touching our chins and we gossiped.

It didn't seem like half an hour when a telephone rang in the anteroom. "Men want bath," the voice of the proprietor said.

So, we rubbed ourselves dry in the soaping room, put on our yukata in the powder room, and opened the door to the corridor.

The proprietor had been as good as his word. Seated on a stool in front of the door was an old, wizened-up little Japanese man.

When he looked up at us and grinned toothlessly, we realized he was blind.

SYNOPSIS — A weakening ridge of high pressure lying across Vancouver Island and into the Cariboo has maintained clear skies in these areas. In contrast a vigorous storm in the northern Gulf of Alaska whipped up gales of 60 to 70 m.p.h. in the Queen Charlottes overnight with overcast skies and continuous rain. In the southern interior cloudy skies and light snow resulted overnight from a storm system moving eastward through the northern states. Gales will abate on the north coast this morning as the effect of the weakening system moves southeastward over Vancouver Island and into the Interior.

OTTAWA (CP)—The value of Canadian exports in the first nine months of 1964 totalled $6,159,600,000 or 23.2 per cent higher than the corresponding figure for last year, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The increase was maintained in September as exports rose 23.5 per cent to $743,000,000 from $602,100,000 a year earlier.

Exports to the United States in September climbed to $393,500,000 from $338,100,000 and sales to the United Kingdom rose to $106,400,000 from $89,400,000.

GM Employees Favor Strike

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—About 7,500 employees at the General Motors of Canada plant here voted Sunday 99.2 per cent in favor of strike action if the company and the United Auto Workers CLC are unable to sign a contract.

A three-year contract with GM expired last week.

Fixed NHA Interest Stagnates Construction of New Housing

EDMONTON, Alta. (UPI)—The artificial fixing of the National Housing Act interest rate is a major deterrent to the building industry, E. R. Alexander, president of the National House Builders Association, charged here at the annual banquet of the Edmonton House Builders Association.

"Continuance of a fixed NHA rate spells stagnation for a large part of the housing industry at a time when it should be expanding rapidly to keep abreast of the country's needs," he said Saturday. "What we need is an NHA rate that will be free to vary with market conditions and thus invite the support of private lenders."

Alexander said it is a fallacy to believe that an NHA interest rate, fixed at an artificially induced level, will produce enough private financing to satisfy the needs of the huge market for low-cost housing.

Because relatively few lenders will advance money for the return which NHA mortgages offer today, more and more homebuilders are being forced into the conventional lending market, he said.

"Thus the original purpose of the National Housing Act to provide low-cost housing is being side-stepped by the government's decision. This is a shackle that

Ford Starts Bargaining

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co., and the United Auto Workers Union embarked today on intensive bargaining with three struck plants in an effort to prevent parts shortages from crippling non-struck Ford plants.

Local bargainers for both management and union at the three plants were summoned to Detroit for centralized negotiations under top management and union officials.

The representatives called in were from the Ford stamping plants at Chicago Heights, Ill., and Buffalo, N.Y., and the aluminum foundry at Sheffield, Ala., key manufacturers of some parts and trim accessories without which Ford's assembly plants might eventually grind to a halt.

Efforts were concentrated on settling these three plant-level contracts first so that the strike, under way at nine Ford plants, would not cause spreading paralysis among the plants that are operating.

WEATHER UPS SALES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Inland Natural Gas Company, Limited, residential and commercial sales for the quarter ended Sept. 30 increased by nearly 50 per cent, Inland president John A. McMahon announced Saturday.

The increase was a factor in a net income improvement increase of $390,174 for the 12 months to Sept. 30, 1964, compared with the 1963 figure.

In an interim report, Mr. McMahon said colder weather was partially responsible for the residential and commercial sales increase.

Running Fun for Family

"Togetherness is growing on us. We had mom, dad, the kids, everybody out there Saturday."

This was Art Burgess describing the Y-M-W-C-A first "family" fall marathon meeting at Beacon Hill Park.

Fifty competitors cranked up in five events.

Gordon Hawley, "Mr. Cross Country" the teaches the game at Victoria High took the "Linament Brigade" event, 1.6 miles, in 9:52.2. The race was for "runners" 25 years and over, out of competition for five years. Cleve Tuttle, Vic Y was second and Cliff Salmon, another old Y performer, third.

The "petticoat pursuit," another marathon twist, went to Phyllis Deboeck of Nanaimo. She covered the 8 mile in 5:37.3.

Nanaimo dolls made it a clean sweep, Marilyn Ellis and Ann Kitchen placing second and third.

Norm Patenaude took the 4.6 mile senior race in 22:09.5, followed by Y-mates Dave Rasmussen and Hans Ruffiger. The Navy's Ray Neratko was fourth.

Fire in 'Engine Room' Spoils United's Effort

United 1, Firefighters 3
By ERNE FEDORUK

The fire in Firefighters was confined to the engine room Saturday but it was enough to spoil the coming-out party of Victoria United's "team of promise."

The "engine room" of a soccer team is its halfback line. Vancouver's Firemen had power aplenty there Saturday and they churned out a 3-1 Pacific Coast League victory over Victoria's best team of the season.

KICKERS KAYOED

Scots, Marina Upsets

The youth-dominated Canadian Scottish and Oak Bay Marina teams caused all the eyebrow-raising in the Victoria and District Soccer League ranks Sunday.

The Scots and the Mariners scored the upsets to march into the semifinals of the McGavin Cup (injured players' fund) competition. Filling out the fours, in a more expectant manner, were Brodies and Victoria West.

Semifinals will be played next Sunday with the final on Nov. 22.

Scottish edged Hourigan's Kickers 5-4 while Marina, the only second division team to enter the competition, thumped first division Esquimalt 3-1. Marina tripped Navy, another first division team, 4-3 in a preliminary match the previous weekend.

Brodies defeated Gorge 5-3 in a rugged encounter that saw veteran Cliff Newman taken to hospital for observation after he was hit full in the face by a hard drive.

West's scored only three goals and Price and Smith

At that, a draw might have been a more fitting result. Coach Frank Grealy fielded a team of promise. It was by far the most effective lineup of the season. It is one, given its share of breaks, that could win its share of games the rest of the way.

Second-half goals by winger Lou Trischuk and Art Hughes produced the two points that shoved the Firemen into a first-place tie with Vancouver Columbus.

Many in the crowd of 550 believed the capable Hughes scored both. The truth of the matter is, however, that Trischuk's curving, sharp-angled cross from the side curled across United's goal line before Hughes, Johnny on the spot, tapped it in to be sure.

Hughes was the key man on Firefighters' first goal. He side-stepped Victoria's Bill Hamilton at the 28-minute mark, then unleashed a cracking drive that goalie Larry DeCosta couldn't hold. Jim Blundell tapped in the rebound into a gaping net. A minute before the half, United's Ash Valdal stole the ball from Vancouver goalkeeper Ken Pears and tapped it home to make it 1-1.

GOGGLE SHARP

While Hughes and ageless Goggle Stewart sparked Firefighters' offense, it was the Vancouver halfbacks that stood out on the Royal Athletic Park pitch.

The distribution of Don Boyd, rugged Bob (I-like-to-kick-'em-when-they're-down) Mills and Greg Arnett was magnificent. They were the big bears on defense as well as United attackers did, sift through for several glorious chances.

The lack of sure feet hurt the Victorians, however. They did not accept their chances, mainly because of poor shooting.

FRUSTRATING SHOOTING

Valdal, Dunc McCaig, Marty Taylor and Russ Ball all had glorious chances to score but their shots all missed the Vancouver net.

If there was individual brilliance in the Victoria lineup, it came from fullback Tony Quinn. He stood out, particularly in the first half.

The defeat, combined with North Shore's 2-2 draw with Vancouver Canadians, dropped United into the PCSL basement. The United gets a chance to move up Wednesday, however, when they play University of British Columbia Thunderbirds in a Remembrance Day match at Athletic Park.

Treloar Sets Two B.C. Swim Records

VANCOUVER (CP)—Several meet records were broken at the B.C. inter-high school invitational swimming championships Saturday at Percy Norman pool.

Elaine Tanner of Hillside School, North Vancouver, had what must be one of the best nights of her short swimming career, as she set meet records in three junior girls' events.

She beat her own previous record of 31.4 seconds in the 50-yard breast stroke with a time of 30 seconds even, broke a 14-year-old record in the 50-yard junior butterfly by six-tenths of a second with a time of 28.2 and cut a full second off the 100-yard junior girls' freestyle with a time of 59.2 seconds.

Janet Hughes of Vancouver Point Grey broke the senior girls' 200-yard freestyle record with a time of 2:08.9. The previous mark was 2:10.8.

Grant Treloar of Victoria's Colquitz broke the junior boys' 100-yard freestyle record by two seconds with a new record of 55.1 seconds.

He also bettered the junior boys' 50-yard freestyle with a time of 25.1; the old mark was 25.5. In an elimination heat Friday he made the distance in 24.5.

The senior boys' 200-yard medley relay was won by Princes of Wales of Vancouver. The team set a record which was close to the Canadian record, with a time of 1:48.6.

The former meet record was 1:53.3.

T-Birds Clipped By Royals

VANCOUVER—New Westminster Royals grabbed third place in Pacific Coast Soccer League standings Sunday by defeating University of B.C. Thunderbirds 2-1.

The UBC Squad is in Victoria Wednesday for a game with Victoria United at Royal Athletic Park.

On Saturday, a last-second goal by winger Bob Coyle gave Vancouver Canadians a 2-2 draw with North Shore Luckies. North Shore goals were scored by centre-forward Neil Ellett and left winger Ed Cannon. Inside left Normie McLeod scored Canadians' first goal.

In the Sunday game, halfback Jim Cowie and inside-left Siggi Gohringer scored for Royals while Bob Johnstone scored the lone counter for UBC to give the Birds a brief and early lead.

Lorimer Back in Fold But Haida Crew Bows

VANCOUVER — Slick-shooting Darrell Lorimer has changed his mind, but the good news for Victoria Haida Chiefs stopped right there Saturday night.

Lorimer, a scoring kingpin of the Chiefs last season, returned to the Inter-City Senior "A" Men's Basketball League wars but his presence didn't help the Chiefs.

Coach Howie Tooby's crew ran into a hot Vancouver Baker team and bowed 78-45.

Lorimer, who declared earlier that he would not be able to play this season, scored but four points.

FUNDAMENTALS MISSING

Chiefs lacked fundamentals and were disorganized throughout, trailing Bakers 27-6 and 40-14 after the first two quarters.

Chiefs, who open at home Nov. 18 against Vancouver Grocers, received another standout performance from Pete Simmonds. Despite playing with a broken toe, he scored 17 points.

Also standing out was rookie John McKeachie, who scored 10 points for the second night in a row.

BUTTONS DEFENDED

Gorge Vale's Mrs. C. Holland and Mrs. M. Fry successfully defended the senior women's golf buttons last week by defeating clubmates Mrs. P. O'Connell and Mrs. Claire Johnson 7 and 6.

COURTENAY—A 16-year-old youth was injured in a hunting accident early Saturday and brought out of rugged logging country about 10 miles northwest of here by helicopter.

SCREENING ASKED FOR AMERICANS

A Saanich man has wired Prime Minister Pearson asking if American sovereignty is being threatened by the international boundary.

Retired school teacher H. H. Hall, 5149 Cordova Bay Road, said he represented no organization or political group, but as a citizen of Vancouver Island asked Mr. Pearson:

"Are we depending upon American security clearance for American units arriving at Comox, or will each individual have thorough Canadian screening? Immediate reply requested."

American troops have started arriving at Comox to handle nuclear warheads at the RCAF base.

Mr. Hall says the matter is of concern to all Canadians and could lead to Soviet reconnaissance flight over Comox and perhaps a "U2" incident.

"I dislike American foreign policy dominating others. I distrust any system not our own," Mr. Hall said.

When Canadian units serve in the U.S., they get FBI screening for security. When U.S. military personnel come here, the RCMP should do a security check, he feels.

Joseph Dalton, son of Mrs. E. Brown of Courtenay, was shot in the hip and taken to hospital by RCAF Station Comox search and rescue unit.

The youth is in satisfactory condition in Nanaimo and district General Hospital.

DUNCAN—Only two of the five retiring members of Cowichan School Board 65 are ready to seek re-election.

They are Trustee Wilf Peck, who is also president of the B.C. School Trustees' Association, and Trustee Jack Efford.

Trustees Mrs. Isabel Tarlton and Pat Mason are definitely not running. Mrs. Tarlton has been a member of the local board for the past 10 years and is a past president.

Present chairman, Trustee Joseph Frumento, undecided until this morning, said he will seek a third two-year term.

DUNCAN—Reeve Donald Morton of North Cowichan was to meet Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi today to discuss a new highway link between Crofton and the Trans-Canada Highway.

Also to be present at the meeting, set for this afternoon, was Jack King, of the Chemainus-Crofton Chamber of Commerce and president Ed Alexander.

PORT ALBERNI—Mayor Les Hammer was knocked down by a car here Saturday as he walked on a crosswalk at Third and Argyle.

He was not seriously injured and required no medical attention.

HOUSEWIFE TO CONTEST MAYORALTY

LADYSMITH—Mrs. Kathleen Grouhel, a housewife, will contest the mayoralty in Ladysmith next month.

She will be the standard-bearer for the Ladysmith Ratepayers' Association against incumbent Len Ryan.

Mrs. Grouhel, the unanimous choice of the 12 men on the nominating committee, said the main plank in her election platform would be a call for a capital works plan.

Tom Davidson, a former commissioner, and John Cochrane, were nominated aldermanic candidates and a third name will be added on the weekend to complete the ratepayers' slate.

Veterans Day Last Big Show For Militiamen

Militia men have their last chance for a mass turnout Wednesday before disbandment of some units.

Remembrance Day parade—marking the 50th anniversary of the First World War and 25th Militia Group commander Col. Peter Ramsay said.

He hopes for at least 250 men and women on parade, for many of them the last opportunity to march in public with their units.

Ottawa's order to close down some units must be carried out by next March 31.

"But it would be a mistake to turn the key in the lock and go away," said Col. Ramsay, whose group headquarters is one of the units to go.

"There is a lot of work to be done, such as closing stores, discharging personnel, and a lot of assistance will be required to bring about these changes.

"We are waiting for details. No one can say yet what individuals will definitely stay on. There are new standards of qualification, new medical requirements, that we don't know yet," Col. Ramsay said.

It is indicated the new establishment figure for Vancouver Island may be 500 persons; all ranks. There was no limiting figure under the existing system, but militia men numbered 1,000.

Units folding are expected to have their own individual parades before the deadline is reached.

Under the proposed militia organization, there will be two colonels to act as advisors for all units in B.C. area. Col. Ramsay has had no official word on these appointments, he said.

PARKSVILLE—Trade and Commerce Minister Ralph Lofmark will be guest speaker at the annual installation banquet of Parksville and District Chamber of Commerce.

The banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 26.

Small Turnout Approves Sooke School Referendum

A minority of voters put through a $1.4 million school construction referendum in Sooke School District on Saturday.

An 88.03% affirmative vote was recorded.

Only about 18 per cent of the eligible voters—1,108 out of 6,340—cast ballots.

The margin of victory drew grateful response from school trustees.

Chairman John Williams said: "This is possibly the most important day in the history of the Sooke school district. The referendum is three times the size of any previous referendum."

But he was disappointed more voters didn't turn out.

"If people don't support these votes they may find they will lose the privilege of voting on referendums," he said.

He referred to a B.C. School Trustees' Association resolution calling for the abolition of school construction referendums. The proposed steps would require only school board and department of education approval to proceed.

Mr. Williams said the referendum guarantees introduction of vocational courses in 1965 as recommended by the education department.

"Without the referendum and the buildings and equipment it will supply, it would have been impossible to provide these courses."

There is a 30-day waiting period required before actual work on the construction program can start.

But school trustees will begin planning the program and talks with architects and departmental planners immediately.

PRIORITY LIST

A priority list will be drawn up, likely to be headed by a new, six-room plus activity area, Savory Elementary School.

This will provide for 114 pupils now taking classes in a former Legion hall and army huts at Belmont Senior, Secondary School.

The earliest possible use of this new school would be about Easter time.

Other projects include a new Painter Road junior secondary school, major additions to Belmont and Edward Milne Secondary; equipment for Elizabeth Fisher Junior Secondary, and expansion of Colwood, Glen Lake, Happy Valley, Langford, Hetchosin, Millstream, Singsler, Saseenos and Sooke elementary schools, and the school board offices.

OWNER Windsor Utley examines the rock wall which is six feet deep at base. (Flett Photos)

They Carry Rocks To New Castle

GANGES—They say an Englishman's home is his castle. Windsor Utley can go one better than that. His castle is his home.

Or at least it will be when builders finish building it on Salt Spring Island.

To be known as "Windsor Castle," it will be complete with dungeon.

Rocks for the castle walls have been picked off the beaches.

Shaped by nature alone, they will be fitted individually into the walls without any cutting on the part of stonemasons. Mastermind behind the tedious jigsaw puzzle job is U.S.-born Windsor Utley.

Of English-Canadian descent, he has chosen rocky Beddis Point as the site for his home.

He is on the job, directing placing of huge rocks in castle walls. Some weigh up to 10 tons.

Even the tables here will be hewn from flat slabs of rock, as will fireplaces and patios.

Cost of the building is conservatively estimated at $150,000.

For his money, Mr. Utley will have a home unique in North America, with a view of the sea on three sides.

In places holes have been left in the castle ceiling to allow trees to grow through.

About a dozen workmen are on the job full time, hand-making beams and rock pillars.

When complete, it will probably be open to visitors once a year.

Mr. Utley hopes to move into his dream castle next spring.

Bonded Stock is in the best shape ever.

Our whisky doesn't come in those old bottles anymore. Those fine old bottles have launched their last sips. We've designed these new containers for Bonded Stock. Plus matching new labels. And we age Bonded Stock longer now as well. This makes every drop just a little more mellow. One thing though, Bonded Stock's smooth lightness we don't change. Our blenders know a good thing when they taste it. Judging from the number of people who buy Bonded Stock, so does the rest of the country.

Queen Margaret's Captures Trophy

Queen Margaret's School of Duncan, a perennial challenger, holds grass hockey's coveted Bridgeman Cup today.

The Duncan girls captured the trophy at Lansdowne Junior High Saturday by defeating Norfolk House 2-0 in the final of the Island tournament.

Susan Jagers and Marg Bradford scored the big goals in a game which was a repeat of the 1963 final. The same teams shared the trophy last year after playing to an overtime tie. Queen Margaret's defeated Crofton House of Vancouver 2-0 while Norfolk played to a 1-1 tie with Cowichan High in the semifinals. Norfolk advanced to the final because it conceded fewer corners.

All four semi-finalists are eligible for the Western Canada championships, to be played in Vancouver Nov. 20 and 21.

MEDAL GOLF PLAY

MacLeod Goes Two Up

Professional Ron MacLeod will be heading for his "home" course with a two-stroke lead when the third and final round of the fall monthly medal series is played at Victoria Golf Club Dec. 13.

MacLeod, coming in with his second straight 71, took a two-stroke lead Sunday. His 142 total is two strokes better than novice pro Bill Wakeham.

Wakeham had a 73 on the par-70 Uplands course, hitting out-of-bounds shots on the third and 18th holes.

Sharing low gross honors with MacLeod Sunday was Oak Bay assistant Vaughn Trapp, who also carded a 71. Trapp's two-round total is 146, the same as amateur Dr. George Bigelow, 74-72-67.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I wanted to show my middle-western, carpetbagger friend, Burl Ives, something different in New York—so I took him over to Charlie Brown's pub in the Pan-Am building . . . and he was soon brandishing half a yard of ale.

"The kitchen's closed, Mr. Ives," the manager said regretfully. It was mid-afternoon Saturday.

"Oh, I'm watching my diet!" boomed Burl. He patted his stomach. He had taken off 75 pounds via the Duke rice diet, and only put 10 back on. "Maybe just a little something to nosh on," he added.

The waiters brought him "something to nosh on."

Just some smoked salmon, cucumbers and black bread; soused herrings with onions; baked clams with gammon and herbs; minnows with curry cream; brown and chow-chow, and Scotch egg on country pate.

"I call this a real nice snack," grinned Ives. The table was groaning and we soon would be.

"I never told anybody what my weight was but I'll tell you off the record," he said. (He did, and I was astonished.) "It was so astronomical," he said. "But I was able to tote it."

He sure was able to tote it. He has 37 LPs on five different labels on the current market, including Pearly Shells, a smash hit which is Honolulu-flavored but recorded in Nashville.

"My records don't get old," he said, licking his lips over the baked clams. "Wayfarin' Stranger, which I did in '39, still sells."

"I've worked three weeks, done everything I promised . . . and I'm gonna be hard to find for a while . . ."

Which was a way of saying he would be skipping the sailboat in the Bahamas for a few weeks.

"And I may be going back to Duke for more diet," he said. "Willie Wyler says since I took off 75 pounds I can play anything but the leading lady. But after this, I'd better go back to Duke and take another whack at it."

Burl turned to the manager. "I'm so glad," he said, "that the kitchen was closed."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . . Kim Novak's London apartment was burgled of $9,000 in jewelry (but they ignored her paintings, which hurt her artistic sense) . . . They're talking up both Shelley Winters and Milt Kamen for Emmies for a "Ben Casey," in which Milt, as the doc, seduces the patient . . . Tony Bennett will do a split week—a TV show in London, a cafe concert in Paris . . . Composer-arranger Bernie Wayne is new A and R chief at 20th Century Fox Records . . . The discussion at The Controversy was about women wearing pants, with John Payne's sexy-looking daughter Julie modeling 'em.

Lionel Hampton recorded an album in the living room of a Hackensack, N.J., optometrist—the acoustics were ideal there . . . Jack Benny tried to persuade his wife Mary to return to his TV: "After all, in California the law says the show is half yours, anyway."

Mr. Perrault said he had sent his request direct to Charles M. Brinkerhoff, president of the Anaconda Copper Company Ltd., owners of Anaconda of Canada. The parent company has its offices in New York.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Myra Schlosser, age 12, of Tucker, Ga., for her question:

How Do Bees Choose a New Queen?

In America we choose the people who are to make our rules and regulations by voting for or against them. This is the democratic process, and we have just had a nationwide Presidential Election. We take this election for granted, but though honeybees live under strict rules and regulations, the democratic idea has never occurred to them.

The life of a queen bee, you would think, is the best kind of life a lady could enjoy. She rules the hive and her every whim is law—or so we think. She is attended by a devoted troop of serving maids who wash and comb her fuzzy coat, feed her and take care of her every need—or so we are told. Any girl would envy the life of this superior, one-of-a-kind bee who certainly is the mother of every bee in the colony and seems to be the ruling queen of the hive.

The true facts concerning this queen mother, however, are not what they seem. Her ladies-in-waiting actually are a small army of strict guardians. True, they protect her from attacking enemies, but most likely because she is the only egg layer in the hive. Their main job is to keep her busy at the never-ending job of egg laying, and for this reason they never permit her to stray.

They tend and feed her, wash and comb her to prevent her from wasting her egg-laying time and energy. The little busy-bodies wash and comb her so often that her fuzz is all stripped away, and the body of an aging queen mother is bare. When time comes for her to be replaced by a new queen, the worker bees really show their lack of affection for their queen mother.

Fed Special Food

The workers always take over the duties of baby care and child raising in the hive. Each egg, placed in a waxen cell by the queen mother, hatches into a grubby larva. The nursemaid workers feed and tend this infant until it becomes a pupa and finally hatches out as an adult bee. They decide whether the youngster shall be a worker, a drone or a queen. A future queen is fed special food and when she hatches she pipes a special song. The old queen hears and comes to test the strength of the new princess, and the two fight in mortal combat.

A queen bee uses her stinger only against another queen bee, and in this contest the old queen or the young queen or both of them will be killed. If the old queen is killed, her body is tossed outdoors with the garbage and her once devoted troop of ladies-in-waiting become just as devoted to the new queen mother—or so it seems.

As a rule, several young queen bees mature around the same time and each young princess seeks out a rival to fight. Five or six days later, the victorious queen leaves the hive to start a new bee colony of her own. Sometimes the old queen leaves home before the young queens emerge. This happens when the colony is growing too large, and with the departing queen go from 10,000 to 80,000 workers and a few drones. This swarm of bees sends scouts to find a suitable place for building a new hive.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Jean Hart, age seven, of Houston, Texas, for her question:

Are the rainbow colors always in the same order?

As a rule we see only one rainbow in the sky. But sometimes there is a second bow, a smaller arch under a larger one. When there is only one rainbow, the red colors are always at the top of the shimmering arch and the bluish violet colors are at the bottom. When there are two rainbows, the colors are arranged in opposite orders on the second one.

The big bow at the top has the red colors on the outside and the blue colors on the inside. This is just the same as the order of colors when there is only one rainbow in the sky. But the smaller rainbow under the big one seems to be upside down. Its blue band of color is at the top and the red band of color is at the bottom.

'Liberals Trying To Hide Failures'

HALIFAX (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Saturday the rudderless Liberal government of Prime Minister Pearson was accusing the Progressive Conservative party of obstruction in an effort to cover up its own failures.

Mr. Diefenbaker, speaking to the more than 1,000 delegates of the Nova Scotia Progressive Conservative Association's annual meeting here from Ottawa via closed-circuit television and telephone said charges of obstruction by the Liberals seem to indicate they are laying the foundation for calling an election.

The current session of the House was a "very difficult parliament because the government doesn't know where it is going," he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker said impor-

B.C. POLICE JUST AS GOOD SPEAKING OF CARS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister Gagliardi thinks a B.C. police force could do just as well as the RCMP in this province, but he hasn't any preferences one way or the other.

"It's none of my business," he said Sunday night in answering a charge by provincial Liberal Leader Ray Perrault that he is pressuring other cabinet ministers for a B.C. force.

"Perrault shoots from the lip," said Mr. Gagliardi. "He looks under the bed each night to see if there is a bogey man there. I'm not concerned with the policing of B.C. The RCMP are doing a good job. A B.C. force couldn't do any better, but they could do just as good."

Flag Charge Possible, Leboe Says

VANCOUVER—If Canada has to fly Prime Minister Pearson's maple leaf flag, it will only be temporary, a Social Credit MP predicted Saturday.

Cariboo MP Bert Leboe said a new prime minister would be able to change the flag.

"If this flag is approved we are setting a precedent in the House of Commons which says any prime minister, when pushed from one side or the other, can change the flag," Mr. Leboe told the B.C. Social Credit League convention.

He said the choice of a flag should be up to the people, not Parliament.

TEMPORARY . . .

"If we do vote on this present flag, which represents something very very akin to the flag of Peru . . . and it is passed in Parliament, it is only a temporary situation."

Mr. Leboe said Canadians want a plebiscite—"and are going to demand to have their way."

He said polls indicate 68 per cent want a plebiscite. "It is Canada that makes the flag, not the flag that makes Canada."

SPEAKING OF CARS

New Wrinkles In U.K. Models

By LESLIE MILLIN

Three letters in one day asking what's new with English cars may presumably be interpreted as a deluge of questioning.

Some answers are available, but not exactly a deluge. Reports of the Earls Court auto show have been scanty.

Pressing on anyway, we find that Jaguar has at last retired its venerable gear box and also beefed up the engine. Available now in the Mark X sedan and the XKE sports car is a 4.2 litre (bored out) version of the twin overhead camshaft engine, with no more horsepower but lots more torque.

The new transmission is a four-speed all-synchromesh job that should placate the lovely lady E-type owner who derided my praise of the old trans.

"It's lousy," she said of the gearbox in her own blood-red hardtop.

An English independent tester covered the quarter mile in 16.7 seconds in the bulky Mark X.

So the E-type should now have enough dig-out to satisfy sports-minded owners who resent being waxed at lights after shelling out $6,000-plus for a fine machine.

Also new on Jags is the use of an alternator instead of a generator. Alternators are now standard on most American cars.

A servo-assist for the four-wheel disc brakes has been added.

British Motors Corporation has come out with two new items of interest.

One is the result of adding a Rolls-Royce six-cylinder engine to an Austin sedan.

The magic monicker of Rolls-Royce should do much for the sale of what from pictures looks like a not-too-extraordinary sedan.

But the big news must surely be the new six-seater Austin 1800, the biggest yet application of the revolutionary concept first incarnated in the Mini.

It looks like a lengthened Austin 1100, which is not surprising.

Judging by photographs, the exterior finish is better. It uses a four-cylinder transverse engine (mounted sideways in the front, that is) and the hydrolastic suspension principle.

Maximum torque is at low revs (2,100) and maximum horsepower at quite high revs (5,300) which leads one to suspect it will perform well both in traffic or on the highway.

With 84 horsepower and a weight of about 2,260 pounds, it should perform respectably if not dazzlingly.

Look for one in town about March of next year—maybe.

Addict Pleads Guilty To Theft From Doctor

Ex-Coroner Scuffles With Desperate Man

A drug addict who robbed an elderly doctor of his medical bag Saturday night pleaded guilty today to robbery with violence.

Kenneth Jay attacked 74-year-old Dr. J. H. Moore, a former city coroner, at his home, 2941 Sea View Road.

In Saanich court, Magistrate J. A. Byers said he did not want to hear details of the crime until another person, charged along with Jay, comes to trial.

He is Edward Stevens, who pleaded not guilty to robbery with violence when he appeared in court.

Stevens was remanded to Thursday when a date for his trial will be fixed.

Jay will appear for sentence on the charge Nov. 23.

'I'M SICK'

Both Stevens and Jay asked the magistrate to "send a doctor down to us."

Jay told Magistrate Byers, "You know I'm an addict. I'm sick right now. I'm sick."

The magistrate said jailers would call a doctor if they need treatment.

SCUFFLED

Dr. Moore told police that he went to his garage to lock his car about 8:30 Saturday night. He saw a man removing his medical bag and grappled with him.

The robber told the doctor, "I'm sick," and the two of them scuffled. The man wrestled free of Dr. Moore's grasp but the doctor caught him again and tore his attacker's jacket.

The man broke free and got away in a waiting car. Stevens and Jay were picked up by police several hours later.

Sailor Pleads Not Guilty To Rape Try

An Esquimalt sailor—Daniel Stanley Fletcher, 20, of HMCS Naden — pleaded not guilty in B.C. Assize Court today when charged with the attempted rape of a 17-year-old girl in his car on Aug. 18.

He also pleaded not guilty to a second charge of indecently assaulting the girl.

Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton ruled that the public should not be excluded from the trial at present.

"Our justice is done in open court unless conditions warrant otherwise," he said.

Crown prosecutor E. George MacMinn had said the judge might wish to exclude the public in the interest of public morals.

Alan Bigelow, who is defending Fletcher, submitted the trial should be heard in open court "in the interests of justice."

He added that the name of the complainant in such cases was never reported in the press.

"I am not so much concerned with that as with the public interest," Mr. Justice Wootton said.

Dr. John B. Anderson of Victoria said he examined the girl after the alleged assault took place.

"She was upset, rather frightened and very much embarrassed," he said. "There was no sign of any injury."

A 12-man jury, chosen from a panel of 40, was sworn in to hear the case, which continued this afternoon.

'Obvious Car Going To Hit Us'

A former beauty contest winner told in court this morning of the accident in which her husband was killed while he sat in front of her in their car.

Mrs. Valerie Shick, 1558 Earle Place, was testifying at the preliminary hearing of a charge of criminal negligence against Joseph C. Chambers, 50, of 957 Westing Road.

Chambers is accused of causing the death of Leading Seaman Warner Shick, of HMCS Naden, in a two-car collision at Craigflower and Aral early on the morning of Oct. 24.

Mrs. Shick said she and her husband were driving a friend home to Belmont Park. Earlier the Shicks had been to a movie downtown. They met the friend about 11:30 and the three of them had one beer and a sandwich each at a downtown hotel.

She said that as they drove along Craigflower "I just remember lights coming at us."

It was obvious this was a car that was going to hit us," she said she doesn't remember the impact. Mrs. Shick said she suffered a broken nose, jaw and cheekbone in the collision and required plastic surgery for a facial wound.

Mrs. Shick testified that the car driven by her husband was proceeding "at no more than 35 mph" and was on its own side of the road.

The hearing is continuing.

Man Breaks Leg Fleeing Party, Police Officer

A 25-year-old man broke his leg while trying to escape after police broke up a rowdy party at a house in the 400-block Powell early Sunday.

When police arrived on the scene after complaints from neighbors they were greeted with a hail of beer bottles from an upstairs window.

The bottles narrowly missed Dogmaster George Barr and Constable Bud Curry. When police succeeded in getting the door open, the people inside scattered.

One fled carrying a case of beer and tried to jump a fence with it. He fell and broke his leg. The officer, who had been chasing him took him to hospital.

Police are investigating.

Ask The Times

Q. Did the names of Goldwater and Johnson appear on all the ballot slips used in the recent election. What role does the electoral vote play in election of the president or vice-president? M. P.

A. Not necessarily. Each state that is legally on the ballot offers its state of Electoral College candidates. In some states, those are the only names on the ballot.

In others, the Electoral College names do not appear but the candidates' names are used and a vote for the candidate is a vote for the state of electors of his party.

Some states use both the candidates' and electors' names.

The Electoral College has the constitutional responsibility of electing the president and vice-president of the U.S.

There are 538 electoral votes—435 for the number of seats in the House of Representatives, 100 for the number of seats in the Senate and three for the District of Columbia.

The party with the majority captures all the electoral votes in each state. A minimum of 270 votes is needed to elect.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve controversies or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along with the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times," Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Tracking Dog Leads Police To Escapee

Second Man Found On Prison Grounds

Prison guards and police Sunday recaptured a convict who escaped from jail and found another prisoner who had disappeared but never managed to get off the prison grounds.

The escapee from Wilkinson Road Jail got away Saturday afternoon and was apprehended Sunday morning at Glen Road and Wilkinson.

A 33-year-old prisoner at William Head minimum security unit, who vanished in dense fog Thursday night, was found in an unused building on the prison property.

WORKED AT PIGGERY

Paul Toth, a 41-year-old Yugoslav immigrant, was serving a two-year term at Wilkinson Road Jail on burglary charges. He made his getaway while working at the prison piggery.

Police said he obtained a change of clothes in a break-in and then discarded his prison work clothes. He was spotted by two prison guards near 7520 West Saanich Road shortly before 11 Sunday morning.

Central Saanich police joined the search and Toth was tracked down by Rex, the Saanich police dog. He was to appear in Saanich court this afternoon charged with two break-ins and with escaping custody.

James William White, an Ontario man, was serving a four-year term at William Head for false pretences. He disappeared in heavy fog that rolled over the sprawling prison Thursday night.

A prison spokesman said today that White was found in an unheated and unoccupied building on prison property.

White has been transferred to the B.C. Penitentiary at New Westminster where disciplinary action will be taken against him.

HAD FOOD

He will not be charged with escaping custody since he apparently never left the prison grounds. Prison authorities began to suspect White hadn't got away when it was established he had not left Vancouver Island or been sighted in the Victoria area.

He was wearing only light clothing when found and had some food that was pilfered from the prison kitchen.

APPEAL DRIVE NUDGES PAST 85% LEVEL

Victoria United Appeal Fund today passed the 85 per cent mark.

At noon, the figure stood at $349,216, 85.2 per cent of the $410,000 goal.

Helping boost funds over the weekend was an appeal booth set up at Yates and Douglas Saturday. During its first day it brought in $41.50.

The booth, which will remain until the target is reached, is being manned by representatives from the 24 appeal agencies.

Reservation System To Return

A reservation system for Gulf Islands ferries will be reinstated immediately following the stranding Friday night of 16 Island residents in Tsawwassen.

Reservations will be available Fridays and Sundays at least until the hunting season is over so the situation isn't repeated, Monty Aldous, B.C. Ferries general manager, said today.

CHARRED RAFTERS of this burned barn stand out against the sky, after a Saanich arsonist set fire to the barn and farmhouse on the old Turner farm near Sayward Beach. Saanich firemen fought the blaze for five hours, starting just before midnight Sunday.

Farmhouse, Barn Burn As Firebug Hits Again

POPULARITY GROWS EVEN BEFORE VISIT

Victoria is more popular with the Quebec Union of Municipalities than it thought.

Civic officials learned that about 300 mayors and their wives—about 100 more than expected last week—will arrive here Saturday for a projected three-day visit.

"It shows how much interest they have in seeing other parts of the country and bringing goodwill from Quebec province," Mayor R. B. Wilson commented.

"We'll have to change our plans slightly for their reception but it won't be any inconvenience."

Detectives Get Good Lead On Suspect

An arsonist set fire to a Saanich farmhouse Sunday night, then touched off a barn 500 feet away as firemen fought the first blaze.

Saanich firemen battled the flames in both unoccupied buildings for nearly five hours.

And Saanich police said this morning the two fires at the old Turner farm on Sayward Road were definitely arson.

It was the fifth Saanich barn struck by a firebug in recent weeks.

Fire Chief Joseph Sutherland said he understands the detective department has a good lead on the arsonist.

Owner of the property is Marwell Construction Ltd. of Vancouver, a company planning to develop a $22 million housing estate on the old farm site.

Hugh A. Martin, president of the company, first heard of the fires from the Times this morning.

He said the buildings would probably have been demolished anyway.

Saanich firemen got the alarm about 1:20 on Sunday night.

Four off-duty firemen were called in to help the regular shift.

More than 3,000 feet of hose had to be laid to get enough water from the nearest hydrant, and a tank truck sent to the fire used its entire supply.

Firemen left the farm at about 4 a.m.

STARTED IN KITCHEN The blaze in the farmhouse apparently started in the kitchen, burning through the roof and leaving the house just a charred hulk.

The barn fire started in hay stored on the second floor.

Chief Sutherland said his men were already fighting the house fire when the barn blaze broke out.

He said there were "a number of men" around while he was at the scene.

The old wooden structure was heavily damaged.

Although he said the fires "won't hinder us," Mr. Martin said he is concerned.

"I'd hate to see a fire get started through those trees," he said.

OBSELETE Mr. Martin said he didn't think the buildings were insured, and did not give an estimate of their worth.

"They were pretty obsolete," he said.

The buildings had been unoccupied since the last residents, Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, moved to Mara Lake, in the B.C. interior.

The Turner family had closed the property since 1934, until Marwell Construction Limited bought it.

100 HOMES Marwell plans to develop the 204-acre site into 400 luxury homes with a golf course and marina.

"We're just waiting for the pollution control board to tell us what they want us to build" for sewage disposal, said Mr. Martin.

Coffee With Governor Launches 4-H Youths' Trip of a Lifetime

Fourteen British Columbia teen-agers are leaving today to meet Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson in Ottawa.

Five of the 14 top 4-H Club members from B.C. awarded a week-long trip to Eastern Canada for the annual national 4-H conference, are from Vancouver Island.

They are Kris Andrews, 4325 Blenkinsop Rd.; Don Alberg, 1516 Mount Douglas Cross Rd.; Bruce Wilson, 11326 West Saanich Rd.; Shirley McLean of Alberni; and Katherine Milne of Errington, now living in Vancouver.

They were picked for the trip on the basis of leadership ability, their 4-H record and their knowledge of current events.

COFFEE PARTY They met the other 10 young British Columbians here over the weekend and went to a coffee party with Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes at Government House this morning.

They were to board a train bound for the East in Vancouver tonight.

One of the highlights of their trip will be when Prime Minister Pearson presents them with citizenship certificates at a banquet next Friday in Ottawa.

They will start their 4-H conference Thursday.

The first day's objective, says their official program will be, "to make a friend from each province."

SONG BOOK To help things along the youngsters have been given a booklet containing the lyrics of French and English songs, including "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover," "Alouette" and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

While in Ottawa, the youngsters, ranging in age from 17 to 19, will visit Governor-General Georges Vanier, meet their local MPs, tour the House of Parliament and visit the National Gallery.

They will go to Toronto Saturday to attend a National Hockey League game, tour Niagara Falls, visit the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair and see a musical show.

The trip ends Nov. 18.

The B.C. party will be chaperoned by J. E. Hall, Abbotsford district agriculturist and Lorna Michael, extension home economist from Kamloops.

DEAR ABBY...

They're 'Busy' Beavers!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We have two teen-age girls, who read your column so maybe if you answered this in the paper it would help. Why can't they be in bed with their homework done and their clothes laid out by 11 o'clock on school nights? At 11:30 they are poking around, just starting to wash their hair, and I know all their homework isn't finished. The next morning it's a madhouse deciding what to wear. I have all I can do to get a bite of breakfast down them with all that rushing around. If you can solve this problem, you're a genius.

INADEQUATE MOM.

DEAR MOM: If it's any comfort to you, your problem is shared by millions. The cause is lack of organization. Believe it or not, the busiest people in the world are teen-agers. Their days are filled with school, sports, music lessons, dental appointments, social activities, clubs, homework, television and telephoning. They should put themselves on a first-thing-first schedule. After appointments which cannot be changed, their homework should be done. The most subtle thieves of time, television and telephoning, should be allowed only after the homework is finished. The selection of clothes, however, cannot be made the night before because according to the teen code, they must first see what the weather is like, and then check with friends to find out what they are wearing.

DEAR ABBY: My fiancé has a habit of sniffing. It does not bother me because I am very much in love with him, but it bothers my parents to distraction. They are constantly at me to tell him to quit sniffing. I have told him to please try to stop, but I know it is something he can't help. He has gone to all kinds of nose specialists and to allergists, too, and they all say it can't be helped. He has had this condition almost all his life, Abby. Is there anything I can do about it?

SNIFFER'S GIRL.

DEAR GIRL: Yes, tell your parents that HE has learned to live with it and because you love him you will too. And since it can't be helped, you would appreciate their not mentioning it any more as THEIR nagging is more distracting than HIS sniffing.

DEAR ABBY: I can remember my mother foolishly turning purple and green when ever some female looked at my father. I try to guard against that same sort of jealousy myself, knowing where my reactions stem from. Tell me, how would you like it if your husband was confined to his bed for a few weeks and his office kept calling him with messages like, "Miss Anderson says to tell him she loves him." And "When Gloria heard how sick he was she just broke down and bawled."

Remarks like these just make my insides churn. Have I a legitimate gripe, or should I try to "understand"?

JUST HIS WIFE

DEAR JUST: Try to understand. And thank heavens for such a likeable husband.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SICK ONE" IN HILLSBOROUGH: Your doctor should have told you that tranquilizers and booze don't mix. But he prescribed only the tranquilizers. The booze was your own idea.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Turkey Luncheon At Yacht Club

The Women's Committee of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will gather in the clubhouse on Thursday at 12:30 p.m. for a turkey luncheon. Following the meal, tables of bridge will be played. Members are reminded that they may bring guests to the affair.

Dying Breed

EDMONTON (CP) — Helen Morrissey is a rarity. Miss Morrissey has been a licensed harness racer for 15 years, in a profession not usually associated with women, and legislation is ensuring it stays that way. National trotting associations in Canada and the U.S. stopped giving new licences to women to drive on the major tracks four years ago. But Miss Morrissey says she'll continue "Indefinitely, because I like it."

PIMPLES

Ugly skin blemishes on face or body, freckles, pimples, red itchy itching skin and Athlete's Foot are quickly relieved by NIKODERM. Antiseptic action helps make skin softer, smoother, clearer. Ask your druggist for NIKODERM ointment and soap. Help clean, clear and soothe your skin. Look better fast.

Movie Queen's Secret of Thwarting Age

Older women can appear to be much younger than they really are by using a new kind of liquid make up that absorbs light instead of reflecting it. Hence, facial lines and blemishes become less visible to the eyes of other people. This is the trick used by your favorite movie star to keep herself looking the same today as she did years ago. 2nd Debut Liquid Make Up (with CEF 600) will perform this identical trick for you. Your druggist or dept. store has it in all five shades.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Beware of Hair Styles That Will Make You Look Older

Michel Contino is president of The Coiffure Francaise of America, an exclusive club consisting of some of the topflight American-French hair stylists. Today I bring you some advice from him concerning "Past 40 hair styling for the winter of 1964!"

Mr. Contino feels that this season's hair styling is kind to the woman past 40 because it allows for greater flexibility. However there are current trends she should avoid.

One of them is severity. While her hair must be straight, not curly, the "snob" hairdo with the hair drawn back from the forehead and coming straight down at the sides is for her daughter, not for her. It is too trying. The long bangs extending almost to the eyebrows which are so popular now are also for the younger set. Her hair at the back should be softly, semi-shingled, not severely shingled.

There is nothing which dates or ages you more definitely than tight permanents and tight curls. However, Michel has found that while the hair is straight, the slightest suggestion of a flip or half-wave at the sides is flattering, especially after 40. Always raise the side hair up gently to give the temple hairline some softness.

The hair is piled on the crown of the head. The top hair is often cut short with side hair pulled to the crown. For the winter hairdo which has bulk at the top, a small wiglet is most helpful, particularly if the hair is at all thin in this area.

Wiglets must not be confused with wigs. A small wiglet becomes a part of your coiffure. It can give your hair a new look and can be used in different ways, at the front of your hair or at the top of your head. Top fullness can also be achieved by fluffing the short top hair.

An older woman should never wear droopy shoulder length hair. She should avoid any harshness or curls and strive for upped sides, a semi-shingled back and some bulk at the crown.

Michel Contino also has some definite ideas about hair coloring. He feels that if you use too light a shade as you grow older it makes you look washed out because there is not enough contrast. All hair has three shades in its natural coloring. Today hair coloring manufacturers strive to get this shading in their products, and many have.

If you get a hair tint do not have it all one even shade for this looks artificial. Instead blend several shades. This will be more natural looking and whenever possible, leave this to a specialist.

If you would like to have my leftlet concerning hair care send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leftlet number 52 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

SHOPPING GUIDE

'Deck the Halls' With Puppet Shows

By Penny Saver

Penny was discussing the world situation with a young acquaintance the other day. "Gee," he exclaimed, "I hope all this talk about bombs and stuff won't stop Santa from coming this year!" After discussing the situation at length, I learned that Santa had misjudged his calculations last year and my friend had missed out on two of his fondest desires—a dump truck and a puppet.

So, after a few words of reassurance, Penny went in search of a store that sells puppets. What I found was a complete puppet show in a box. The characters resemble such fairy tale figures as Humpty Dumpty and Snow White's dwarfs. The heads are made of soft, pliable rubber and the bodies are cotton. The box they come in is ideal to use for a stage. Or, a Christmas orange crate makes a wonderful theatre to put on a show. Price is $2.49.

If there are any young mariners on your list, a sailor puppet is just the toy to charm him. A jaunty sailor hat is firmly attached to the rubber head and the puppet is dressed in a full naval uniform. A sleeve extends out the back so a young man can easily manipulate the arms and legs and make the sailor march and drill. The eyes are three-dimensional and wink and blink with every movement. Puppet sells for $1.99.

Store also has a selection of dump trucks in assorted sizes. These are unbreakable and have a lever which raises the back of the truck to deposit its load and lowers the back so the truck can travel. These vary in price as to size and design.

Shopping early for Christmas? Then give Penny a call at 382-3131 and find out where she shopped.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE

Autumn Tones Highlight Decorations for Bazaar

Color was the keynote of the St. John Ambulance bazaar and tea held Saturday afternoon in the St. John Ambulance building on Pandora Avenue.

Flowers of every hue and description and arrangements of leaves and plants, sprayed with gold, greeted those who attended the bazaar.

Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett opened the affair and Mrs. W. H. Humble was general convener. Tables were centred with fall flowers for the afternoon tea convened by members of the St. John Auxiliary. Mrs. E. Harwood, presided at the head table.

BE SMART—

Cover your coiffure this Christmas with a special mantilla (and while you're about it, buy a few more and give them as gifts) which you've gussied up with sparse sprinklings of jets or rhinestones, or strategically sewn little velvet bows.

JOLLY TIME won't have me because they only take kernels that pop!

Skirts Climb Higher and Torso Lengthens As American Designers Unveil New Styles

NEW YORK (UPI)—The long-looking torso and the shortest yet of skirts.

These are two major trends for spring from New York manufacturers of feminine fashions. Designers manage the skinny and "elongated torso" look with belts slung low at the hipbones, with tunic dresses and tunic-length coats, with unbelted dresses seamed well below the natural waistline, with suit or costume jackets edged down to fingertip and even longer lengths, and with long overblouses shown with the suits.

CASSINI'S VERSION

Oleg Cassini, for instance, showed a navy suit with fingertip-length jacket, coupled with a similarly long overblouse done in wide horizontally striped silk in bright blue tone.

New York manufacturers move hemlines as much as two inches above where they were last season, which then seemed startlingly short. But this inching upward means that in some collections—those of Christina Dior, Monte Sano & Pruzan, Oleg Cassini and Maurice Rentner to name a few—hemlines are two inches and more above the knees.

MID-KNEE

Other designers, such as Han- rick Troy and Jane Derby, kept hemlines for day approximately the same as last season, about the middle of the kneecap.

To add further to the delight of leg watchers are the attention-getting of the swinging skirts—pleated, flared or gored—and flounces bordering hem-lines in dress-up dresses in almost every New York collection.

The shorter skirts and longer-bodied look to clothes were among the trends that emerged as Seventh Avenue manufacturers continued this, their third full week of previews of spring for the benefit of the nation's store buyers and press. The fashions will begin to arrive in the stores next January.

HALF-LENGTH FORMALS

A new length for formal evening clothes also swung in full force—what the industry generally dubbed "demi-longueur," from the French for half-length. Jane Derby, however, called it the tea party length, and designer Luis Estevez, who's of Cuban origin, preferred Spanish longueur.

The evening length can range anywhere from nine inches from the floor on up to midcalf, where daytime hems were a few years back.

And the "demi-longueur" isn't always the same length all the way around. Several manufacturers show formal skirts scooped out to the knees and above at the front, then sloped gradually to the ankle or floor at the back. Estevez, for instance cut a pair of at-home pajamas in rose red and green polka-dotted silk in this uneven manner.

Marie McCarthy, chief designer for Larry Aldrich, Inc., showed slender formal in the half length—two piece numbers in white crepe, heavily jeweled at hemlines of both blouses and skirts.

Renner's designer Bill Blass featured several of the demi-longueurs, notably navy and dove grey chiffons with hemlines ending in double-tier flounces with soft plumage stitched in between the tiers and below.

On the basis of collections shown to date, watch for these other signs of spring:

SMOOTH FABRIC

The return of such smooth fabrics as grey flannel and gabardine for coats, suits and dresses. Cassini showed coats in off-white gabardines and predicted a big future for the fabric.

The revival of pink suits, the "fordx" (best sellers) of a few springs ago. Pink throughout both day and evening collections, ranging from shocking Receiving pins in the pledge ritual conducted by Alpha Zeta Chapter were Laura Black, Jacqueline Fayad, Angela Fretter, Alice Haines, Sharon Higgins, Jocelyn Hunter, Daisy Lawrie, Eloise Mayo, Joan Newdecker, Doreen Poole and Kory Regan.

In a candlelight ceremony, conducted by Xi Nu Chapter, 26 Nu Phi Mu members received the ritual of the badge. Presented with pins at this ceremony were Donna Bur-

Legendary Chinese Characters Brought to Life in a Pageant

Dragons, the Chinese moon goddess and her courtiers and other symbolic characters of an ancient Chinese legend came to life in Victoria Saturday.

The event was a pageant presented by the Victoria Chingtown Lions Club at their ninth annual lantern festival held in Central Junior High School. The pageant, entitled "Birthday of the Moon," told the story of the development of the lunar calendar by the scientists of the Emperor Yao.

Each year the celebration takes place on the 15th day of the eighth moon, according to these calculations.

Portraying the characters of the legend were: Nanda Joe, Vivian Eng, May Wong, Tita Hong, Debra and Lorissa Fong, Maye Lum, Jack Tang, Alan Yuen, Marnie Chan, Stanley Tong, Ed Chow and Sylvia Fong.

The affair was opened by Mrs. George R. Pearkes who was presented with a Chinese lantern by Miss Cynthia Sihoe.

A sum of $4,500 was realized and will be used for the club's charities.

Colorful Chinese figures and lanterns decorated the walls of the school gymnasium for the affair.

In charge of a stall laden with such Oriental delicacies as five sticks, fortune cookies, sesame candies and almond shortbread was Mrs. James Chow.

Highlighting the apron stall convened by Mrs. Eyleen Chan were novel "his and her" aprons. "His" were designed as a pair of shorts and "hers" were in the conventional pantalon style.

STALL OF CURIOS

Rating high on the popularity poll were three stalls of curios convened by Mrs. Alan Yuen, Mrs. Jack Lee and Mrs. Bob Lum. Their stalls were lined with golden slipper ashtrays, chopsticks, small lanterns, key-chains and coasters.

Also selling in one curio stall were such traditional Oriental treats as lichee nuts, ginger and shrimp flavoured chips. A Chinese cookbook also proved a "best seller."

In charge of a novelty stall lined with pixie dolls, crocheted poodles, Christmas stockings and other gift items was Mrs. Hayward Lee.

Hats of every hue, size, shape and description could be found in another stall convened by Mrs. Richard Lowe. In charge of the popular sewing and linen stall was Mrs. John Lowe.

Not quite everything had an Oriental flavor at the gala affair! Many a young lad could be seen roaming from stall to stall ravenously munching a hot dog from the stall managed by Mrs. Len King.

Among the thousands that attended were more than 200 old age pensioners who were there as guests of the club.

In charge of the raffles that included Miss Yum Yum, the three spirited dolls, a food hamper, a Napoleon cannon, an end table and a flight bag and foot stool was Ed Lum.

Mrs. George Chan managed the fruit and vegetable stall and Mrs. Henry Fong, white elephant.

Another highlight of the successful affair was a Chinese smorgasbord dinner that was served from 4:30 to 8 p.m. During the evening a variety of paintings, lamps, lanterns and a number of other new items were sold at an auction. Adding to the excitement were the enigmatic fortune tellers.

Guild to Hold Annual Bazaar

St. Columba Parish Guild will hold its annual bazaar and tea on Saturday from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in the parish hall and the church basement, Burnside Road and High Street. There will be a variety of stalls and the affair will be opened by Mrs. John S. Humphries.

The British Columbia Protestant Orphanage will hold its annual holly bazaar on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the orphanage. The affair will be opened by former matron, Mrs. A. Barner. There will be stalls of aprons, candy, novelties, Christmas decorations, and home cooking. Added features will be a delicatessen and Christmas tea. Convener is Mrs. M. Dempster. All set to take part in the activities are these two three-year-old buddies, Dennis and Stevie.

Dear Eunice: Thanks to your column, which my wife has followed religiously (even though she didn't know what you were talking about), she has finally gotten out the sewing machine from the closet where it has been for 20 years, since the day I gave it to her. She is having a good time putting around with it, but is still scared to death of it. She is willing to change my shirts from the wide, full ones of a few years back, to the new, more fitted kinds if you will give her a little help.

Anxious Husband. This just proves what I have told the gals about before; men do like to see their wives sew.

Tapering men's shirts is really a very simple task, and the shirts of today are so much neater looking with their closer fit. Open the underarm seams, right up to the sleeve seam. Use a yardstick and make a slanting mark on the back of the shirt. The shirts I have checked up on are usually cut straight in the front. Make your new seamline using the original front seam, but the new marks for the back seam. Finish with a flat-felled seam as the original shirt was finished.

To make sure you are taking out the right amount of fullness, check the width of the front section and back section of one of the new shirts and compare it with the old ones.

Nylon Roses Accent Lace Gown Worn by Miss Janet Pauline Ray

A floor-length lace gown fashioned with lily point sleeves and scooped neckline enhanced with diamantes and pearls was worn by Miss Janet Pauline Ray on Saturday evening when she exchanged marriage vows with Murray Charles Southern.

The full skirt was caught at the waistline with nylon roses and a semi-circle of matching roses created a bustle effect at back. Her bouffant veil pouffed to shoulder-length from a headpiece of white rosebuds and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiated at the ceremony that united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Clarke, 54 Kingham Place, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Southern, 906 Sioux Place. Mr. Clarke gave his step-daughter in marriage.

PINK AND WHITE

Garden City United Church was decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums and pink carnations for the ceremony. Mrs. Thomas Crosland was organist and soloist, Alan Husband sang "O Perfect Love" during the ceremony.

Matron of honor, Mrs. M. Davis, wore a street-length bell-skirted gown of emerald green peau de soie with a matching lace overjacket that featured three-quarter-length sleeves. Similar gowns of gold peau de soie, were choice of maid of honor, Miss Lorraine Patterson, and bridesmaids, the Misses Donna Ray, Candy Southern and Sandy Neilson. Their headpieces were white roses edged with matching tulle and they carried bouquets of white carnations trimmed with tulle and ribbon.

Miss Sharon Ray was flower girl for her sister in a full-skirted emerald green peau de soie frock accented with embroidered flowers. She carried a nosegay of white and pink carnations with trailing white ribbon.

ATTENDS BROTHER

Best man was Con. R. C. Ray, RCMP, the bride's brother. Guests were ushered to pews marked with pink carnations on white dollies by Brian Caddick, Richard Lloyd, Denny Allen and Gary Ray.

A three-tier wedding cake decorated in white and pink and flanked by white candles and arrangements of white chrysanthemums centred the bride's table at a reception in the White Eagle Hall, Arthur Halpen proposed the toast to his niece.

On return from a honeymoon trip to California, the couple will make their home in Brentwood.

For travelling, the bride donned a cranberry red two piece suit of a loose weave wool. A black velvet hat, black accessories and white rosebud corsage completed the ensemble.

Parisienne Setting For UCW Flea Market

Tables adorned with traditional French paraphs rendered all the charm of a Parisienne sidewalk cafe to Penderay Hall on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon for a "flea market," Parisienne style, sponsored by the Metropolitan United Church Women.

Adding to the continental flavor were signposts directing the way down Quai D'Orsay to a furniture "magazin" where Mrs. M. Lonsbury, Mrs. R. Sharrock, Mrs. L. Smith, Mrs. N. Holder, Mrs. A. Playfair, Mrs. R. Harris, Mrs. E. Hueston, Mrs. G. Robertson and Mrs. M. Hamilton sold an array of goods ranging from lamps to records.

CATER TO EVERYONE

Any member of the family could have been outfitted at the clothing stall that was convened by Mrs. W. Esau, Mrs. J. Lawson, Mrs. N. Hanning, Mrs. R. Simms, Mrs. N. Read, Mrs. G. Walkey, Mrs. K. Smith, Mrs. H. Bird and Mrs. J. Nicol.

Mrs. R. Bennett, Mrs. R. Crago, Mrs. G. Scott, Mrs. G. Murray, Mrs. K. Henderson, Mrs. J. Salmon, Mrs. N. Wells, Mrs. M. Cunningham, Mrs. M. Smith, Mrs. E. Hume, Mrs. C. Peterson, Mrs. O. TERROR IN ZANZIBAR AS HUNDREDS ARRESTED

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Hundreds of persons have been arrested in a new terror campaign by the government of Zanzibar, diplomatic sources said here Saturday.

Arabs again appear the principle victims of the latest crackdown with former members of the old sultan's ruling Zanzibar National Party being rounded up in droves.

The fear, real or imaginary, of an impending counter coup appears behind the wave of arrests.

Misdirected Mortar Fire Kills 1 American, 2 Others

SAIGON (AP)—A Vietnamese mortar barrage meant for the Communist Viet Cong killed a U.S. Army captain Sunday night and wounded another American, reliable sources reported today.

Two Vietnamese officers were killed in the misdirected barrage and six other Vietnamese wounded, the sources said.

The rounds fell on the government unit as it waited in ambush for the Viet Cong near Due Hoa, about 18 miles northwest of Saigon.

The two Americans were with about 60 Vietnamese infantry troops on a night patrol.

This source said the unit called for the mortar fire on a suspected Viet Cong emplacement.

ment. At least one round fell on the unit.

An investigation is under way.

In Saigon opponents of South Viet Nam's new civilian government made plans for further demonstrations today despite a government show of force that checked them Sunday.

Truckloads of unarmed troops discouraged dissident groups who had gathered to march through the streets. When police appeared with clubs, the demonstrators dispersed.

However, leaders of religious, political and student groups opposing the government said they would demonstrate later in the week.

Premier Tran Van Huong had warned in an appeal for unity that the government would use force if necessary to put down demonstrations.

Buddhist leaders also called off memorial services Sunday for a follower who died in an anti-Diem demonstration last year.

Informed sources reported today that South Viet Nam's former chief of state, Maj.-Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh, would leave Thursday for an indefinite trip abroad as an ambassador without portfolio. He was reported planning to visit Hong Kong, Japan, Formosa, Malaysia, Thailand and Hawaii.

It appeared that Minh was making the trip as a political "odd man." The local custom is to send ranking national officials who are ousted into honorable exile as roving ambassadors.

$400 Million to U.K. By IMF's 'Paris Club'

PARIS (Reuters)—The "Paris club"—the 11 richest members of the International Monetary Fund—Saturday agreed to make available immediately more than $400,000,000 to aid Britain in its balance-of-payments difficulties.

Britain was reported to have sought $1,000,000,000 in standby credits with IMF, but in London don a British treasury spokesman denied this.

"We haven't got to the stage of actually asking for it," he said.

HOME GARDEN

They'll Specialize African Violets

By HILDA BEASTALL

Here is good news for the hundreds of people in and around Victoria interested in the growing of African violets.

The Victoria African Violet Club has been recently formed with its officers appointed on a temporary basis.

Judging from the success achieved with these plants by some indoor gardeners and the failures of others, there is plenty to learn before results can be consistent.

Failure to bloom, rotting of the leaves, plants growing too large before flowers appear—all these troubles are likely to plague the amateur sooner or later.

With a specialist club in town, answers to these and other disorders among African violets may be quickly diagnosed and corrected.

This new club has been formed by local women who felt the need here for such a group after enjoying membership in a similar one in Vancouver.

MEET-NOVEMBER 16 The chairman of the membership committee is Mrs. G. S. Morris, whose home at 3216 Aldridge will be the place for the club's next meeting, on Monday, November 16, at 8 p.m.

Anyone interested in joining should phone Mrs. Morris at 383-4881.

Several worthwhile projects are to be considered at the meeting. These include workshops (members bring in plants which are discussed by experts; potting and repotting will be demonstrated); the accumulation of a modest African-violet library, and the planning for an exclusively African-violet flower show, probably in May, the time considered the peak of the blooming season for these delightful plants.

During the first World War Miss Lugin entertained audiences with her contralto voice and guitar.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. J. M. Fahey at home; six nephews and nieces, 11 great-nephews and nieces, and four great-great-nephews and nieces, all in Victoria.

Burial will take place at the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

600 Guests Invited To 'Simple Wedding'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Cheryl Holdridge, a one-time Walt Disney mousketeer, was married Sunday to Lance Reventlow, an heir to one of the world's great fortunes.

The blonde, 19-year-old bride had said she wanted the ceremony to be "in extreme simplicity."

But there were some 600 invited guests, including Cary Grant, the wedding party numbered 25, the ushers, for a gag, arrived in an antique hearse.

Reventlow's mother, Barbara Hutton, heiress to the Woolworth millions, gave a $500,000 wedding gift—a five-bedroom, six-bath English-style country home with swimming pool on a 2½-acre site in nearby Benedict Canyon.

Saanich Jersey Calf Club Holds Annual Awards Night Ceremony

With their animals safely "tucked away" at home, members of the Saanich 4-H Jersey Calf Club "stepped out" on the weekend.

They attended their annual awards night which took the form of a banquet arranged by their sponsors, the Saanich Jersey Cattle Club, at Brentwood United Church hall.

It culminated a busy year of showing their young Jerseys at such fairs as the Victoria Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, Nanaimo Exhibition, PNE, Saanichton and Cowichan exhibitions, along with citizenship training and other activities.

The head of 4-H in the province, Sig. B. Peterson, was on hand to present awards and bring greetings from Agriculture Minister Frank Richter.

He also spoke for the district agriculturist, Ken Jameson of Duncan, who sent congratulations on the club's fine showing during the year.

Top achievement awards went to Wendy Baker in the senior division, and David Evans in the junior. Trophies were presented also for best calf and best yearling, with the calf award going to Robert Corbett and the yearling to Miss Baker.

Proficiency certificates, resulting from written examinations, which advance them to senior status in 4-H work, were presented to young Evans, Susan Street, Pat Garrison, Robert Godfrey and Greg Baker.

The banquet marked the end of an era of the club with the official announcement by Mrs. Tom O'Reilly that she is resigning to form a new 4-H beef cattle club in Saanich.

In recognition of her work with the Jersey club, Mrs. O'Reilly was presented with a certificate from the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs by Mr. Peterson. Mrs. O'Reilly has worked with the group for 12 years.

Presiding over the banquet was Pat Hoole, president of the Saanich Jersey Cattle Club, who announced that the 4-H club's new leader will be his son, Pat Jr., who will be assisted by two others who have also risen through the ranks of the 4-H club, John Stanlake and Bob Evans, both of whom now are attending UBC.

LITTLE UNDERSTOOD ART

Mueller Shows Programming Skill

By AUDREY SLD. JOHNSON
Among the several virtues of Victoria Symphony Orchestra noted over the past year or so, one that has been little discussed publicly is the skillful programming by conductor Otto-Werner Mueller.

A little-understood art from the layman's point of view, nor by any means always grasped by the musician, programming involves many considerations of tonality and mood and much discernment, not only with regard to the music itself, but in qualities of the orchestra and its audiences.

The third program in the current series was presented at Duncan Friday night and at the Royal Theatre here Sunday. It will be repeated here tonight.

It is a delightful example of fine programming; so aesthetically and tonally pleasing that one cannot resist comment.

Proceeding from the dark coloring of Verdi's passionately romantic Forza del Destino Overture — which is given its full dramatic value in a beautifully controlled performance — one came out into the sunlight of Lalo's lyrical Cello Concerto, and so to another French-Spanish composer for the major orchestral work.

CHARMING
Georges Bizet's Symphony in C major is hunted by the spirits of Mozart and the early Beethoven, and is entirely charming in its own right.

It has the elegance, the melodic invention, the rhythmic vitality characteristic of Bizet, though it was written when the composer was a mere 17.

In performance under the eloquent hands of Mr. Mueller, it takes on radiant life, is filled with fine shadings and shapings and sensitive areas of tone color that emphasize the Mozartean qualities.

The particularly lovely adagio movement is marked by some limped oboe solo playing by Dr. Woodford Gargus.

Guest soloist for the cello concerto is Vancouver Symphony principal cellist Ernst Friedlander.

Mr. Friedlander is an impressively gifted artist. His tone has a smooth, lustrous quality — an opalescence, without throatiness or burr.

The Spanish warmth and lyricism of the concerto suited him well; his phrasing with the bow is masterly and he invested the composition at all times with qualities of the orchestra and its audiences.

Vote Tests Set in East

By United Press International
Voters in two federal constituencies head for the polls today in by-elections that are expected to leave the standings in the House of Commons unchanged.

The Liberals are expected to retain their traditional seat in Westmorland, New Brunswick, vacant since the death last June of Sherwood Rideout.

At the same time, the Conservatives are favored to win in the Ontario riding of Waterloo-South which has been Conservative all but twice since 1900.

Angry Partners Accuse U.K.

GENEVA (Reuters)—Britain's partners in the European Free Trade Association today accused her of "unfair play... hitting below the belt" and causing a "crisis of confidence" in the seven-member organization.

Businessmen and industrialists fired these accusations at Douglas Jay, president of the British board of trade, after he had explained and defended Britain's 15-per-cent surcharge at a meeting of EFTA's consultative committee here.

Jay repeated Britain's argument that she had no alternative but to impose the temporary surcharge to help reduce its balance of payments gap. He said Britain had decided against trying to soften the impact of the import restrictions on its EFTA partners by speeding up its scheduled timetable for eliminating duties on products from these countries.

Jay said Britain had examined this idea "most carefully" but in the end it proved not practicable.

Commons Leaders Fail In Bid to Set Program

Flag Debate Next Week?

(Times News Services)

OTTAWA—The government and opposition remained at odds on the flag issue today as Prime Minister Pearson announced the Commons legislative program for the remainder of the present session.

Five items—including the flag—were given top priority by the government. They included redistribution, the new labor code, the pension plan and departmental estimates.

Mr. Pearson said these items would have to be passed before the Christmas recess and end of the session. He gave no indication in which order these items will be introduced.

The flag issue, although included in the priority list, was shelved for at least one week.

The party leaders met today but failed to reach an agreement on the legislative program.

monies dealt with the Pension plan, the labor code, redistribution and departmental estimates before bringing on the flag debate. He said his party was not prepared to allow these legislative items to be "sidetracked" by a prolonged flag debate.

Creditist house leader Gilles Grégoire lashed out at Diefenbaker for his "ill-will."

He maintained that, if the official opposition had attended the party leaders' meetings with good will, an understanding could have been reached.

MPs Rush To London For Vote

LONDON (CP)—Nine Labor members made a dramatic plane dash to London from Scotland tonight as the new British government marshalled all possible forces for its first big parliamentary battle.

For two hours the MPs, needed for a crucial vote on the government's proposal to nationalize the steel industry, were fogbound at Glasgow's Renfrew Airport.

After an agonizing wait, the fog cleared. When the MPs finally reached London at 4 p.m. GMT (8 a.m. PST), the debate had already started. The vote was expected later today.

LABOR EXPECTS TO WIN

The Labor government is expected to win a thin victory, although it has a majority of only five seats in the House and its ranks have been hit by illness.

Two maverick Labor members, who oppose Prime Minister Harold Wilson's steel nationalization plan, have decided to support their chief to help defeat the Conservative no-confidence motion. Their argument, a reporter was told, is that the issue is likely to drag on for several years in Parliament and there is no urgency in condemning the measure at this stage.

UN Crisis Bared By New Red Balk

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The UN financial crisis deepened today with Russia and the United States standing firm in positions headed for a political showdown at the Dec. 1 General Assembly opening.

The Soviet Union and the United Nations disclosed that Russia had filed a new note with Secretary General Thant refusing to make any payment toward the $52.6 million it owes for peace-keeping operations in The Congo and the Middle East.

The United States had no official reaction to the latest repetition of Russia's "not one red kopek" position. Nor was there immediate reaction to an appeal from chief S. O. Adebo of Nigeria, chairman of the UN working group on finances, to project 1965 budget.

NO U.S. PLEDGE

The United States disclosed last week that it would not make its customary annual pledge—normally up to 40 per cent of the total budget—to the UN technical assistance program and the special funds for development of backward countries.

U.S. sources denied published reports that this action meant that Washington would make no payments to the UN treasury until Russia and eight other delinquents pay up.

The U.S. was expected to pay, however, only its legal assessment of 31.91 per cent of the projected 1965 budget.

Soviet A-A Missiles Taken Over by Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Castro regime in Cuba now has at least partial control over Soviet anti-aircraft missiles on the island, a state department spokesman said today.

State department press officer Robert J. McCloskey also told a press conference that Soviet military personnel remaining in Cuba now number "no more than a few thousand."

He said they were not an organized force but an advisory and training mission.

McCloskey made these points in responding to questions about statements made by Premier Fidel Castro in an interview with the New York Times.

Castro was quoted as saying Cubans control the surface-to-air missiles which the Soviet Union installed at 24 bases at the time of the big nuclear missile crisis in 1962.

He also said Cuba was prepared to shoot down U.S. U-2 reconnaissance planes unless some legal means could be found to end the surveillance flights.

THE TROUBLES OF ERHARD

German Logic Too Perfect To Cope With New Events

Bruce Hutchison, eminent Canadian author and former Times editor, has recently completed a tour of Europe. He has written a series of articles on his observations, the second of which appears below.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
BONN—As explained by its official spokesman at Bonn, the West German government's basic policies have a perfect logic and symmetry. Doubtless they are too perfect and symmetrical to fit this imperfect and illogical world.

The economic and political integration of Europe, the reunification of the severed German state, the reconciliation of the United States and France lest Germany be forced to choose between its two closest friends, and the admission of Britain to the European Common Market—these grand objectives are easily proclaimed and were proclaimed by the official spokesman with an impressive mixture of confidence and candor.

As he met me, with his excellent English accent, in a committee room adjoining the Budestag much was happening there, and elsewhere.

Only an hour before Chancellor Erhard—a plump, solid and immensely able man who looks rather like Santa Claus with the beard shaved off—had solemnly assured a restive parliament that Nikita Khrushchev would soon arrive in Bonn and his visit would produce a softening of the Russian attitude toward German reunification.

WEEK'S TURNOVER OF 12,500,197 SHARES

Vancouver Exchange Enjoys Boom

VANCOUVER (CP)—A wave of unexpected trading has surged through the Vancouver Stock Exchange, sending the market cresting past 1929 boom heights—and no one seems to quite know why.

Suggestions include the fact that more Eastern Canadian money is being poured into the market, especially for mining stock. But some brokers expressed fears about "blind" buying and said repercussions could follow.

Friday's trading topped 3,000,000 shares for the first time in history and onlookers had to be turned away from the crowded public gallery. Floor traders called bids and exchanged tickets faster than telegraph tape could record transactions. Friday's trading total of 3,121,519 shares brought the week's turnover to 12,500,197 shares, 12,000,000 of which was in mining stock.

Brokers, normally enthusiastic about an active market, voiced some concern.

"It is most important that this market be cooled off," said Jim Chilcott, president of C. M. Oliver and Co. Ltd., the biggest local brokerage firm which handles about 35 per cent of the trading.

"This is a promoters' market and the public is buying without any knowledge of what they're buying," he said.

While B.C.'s "exceptional" number of mining successes in recent years gave good reason for speculation, Mr. Chilcott said "the people today are buying on blind faith and that always leads to trouble."

But Jack Van Laven, executive vice-president of the exchange, suggested "the spectacular mining boom in the province" is a "fairly affluent" economy with people having more money to invest, and increased interest in B.C. investments from firms in Eastern Canada were all factors creating the boom.

Eastern houses "are putting up larger amounts of money to finance prospecting and development than we have seen in the past," he said. "Previously, local mining issues were sold almost entirely in B.C. Now they are sold across Canada through the facilities of Eastern brokers. They can take up an underwriting of, say 200,000 shares, and distribute it quickly."

The Vancouver exchange was handling larger orders in the 5,000- and 10,000-share range. This was partly due to the upturn and partly due to the type of buyer.

"However, in any booming speculative market a word of caution is in order to the amateur speculator," Mr. Van Laven said.

HUGE WASTES IN CARIBOO SAW MILLS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cariboo sawmills are suffering "huge" losses on raw material due to inaccurate sawing practices, says the B.C. Research Council.

A study of the $50,000,000 industry has found the waste among some 25 per cent of rough lumber coming out of planer mills as shavings.

The council urges the industry to embark on a co-operative research program on the methods and economics of sawmilling.

It notes that most mills limit production for the British market to about one-quarter of their output because they believe any more would be uneconomical.

"No factual basis for this figure could be discovered," the report says.

Larger, more efficient units would contribute to the health of the Cariboo's economy, but employment is unlikely to grow unless the allowable log cut is increased, the council says.

Tenders Due On Boosting Power Cables

B.C. Hydro plans to call tenders within six months to boost the capacity of power transmission lines to Vancouver Island by at least 50 per cent, it has been announced.

The project will involve conversion of existing cables running between Tsawwassen and Stratford, near Duncan, from alternating current to direct current.

It follows last Wednesday's announcement that a new chemical factory planned for Crofton will need extra power to operate.

Hydro chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum said engineers from Sweden and England are studying the project.

At present six cables carry two AC circuits, each of 120,000 volts, to Stratford. A seventh cable is reserved as a spare.

The cables hop islands and part of them run under water.

Initial step in Hydro's expansion program is expected to be conversion of the spare cable to DC.

Eventually three of the existing AC cables could be converted to DC, providing another 260,000 volts capacity.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Smart Compromise by TSE

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

A passing reference was made in this column Friday to primary distribution of shares through the stock exchanges and it was noted that the system was open to some abuses.

Primary distribution through the exchanges has, in fact, been under fire for some time now and it has received close scrutiny during the hearings of the Kimber committee, set up by the Ontario government to investigate the mining securities business.

Toronto Stock Exchange officials, testifying before the committee, have made it clear that they want to continue the practice of allowing mining companies to raise funds through primary distribution while it has become just as obvious that the committee feels the practice cannot easily be justified.

The TSE officials have stressed that with primary distribution being carried on through the exchange, closer supervision is affected and the public is better safeguarded. A skeptic can point to any number of shady mining company deals which have gone on under the "watchful" eyes of TSE officials the recent Windfall Oil and Gas case is an example—and wonder if this theory holds much water.

SUSPICION

There is at least room for suspicion that the main reason stock exchanges countenance primary distributions is that they are extremely profitable to too many exchange members to be discontinued. Without the veneer of respectability afforded by the stock exchange, promoters would have to work much harder and take a smaller profit themselves in selling speculative mining shares to the public.

$80 Million Pulp Mill Planned

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C.

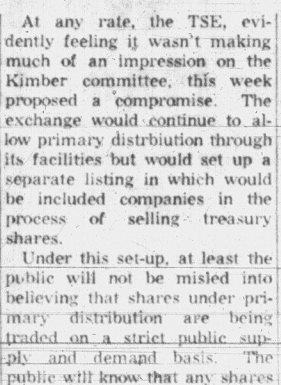

Columbia Cellulose Company Limited has reached agreement in principle on formation of a partnership with Swedish interests to build and operate a new multi-million-dollar kraft pulp mill at this northern port city.

The new mill and planned expansions of the Columbia's present sulphite mill here will bring the pulp output by Columbia in Prince Rupert to about 1,500 tons per day, the biggest in Canada.

The announcement was made by British Columbia Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston. It was estimated a capital investment of close to $80,000,000 will be needed to build the mill, develop the necessary wood resources and provide working capital.

The minister said Svenska Cellulose Aktiebolaget, Sweden's largest manufacturer and distributor of forest products, will purchase a 40 per cent equity in Skeena Kraft Limited, a new company set up to build and operate the mill for Columbia.

He said his co-operative effort marks the first time the forestry technologies of Sweden and B.C. have been linked.

At any rate, the TSE, evidently feeling it wasn't making much of an impression on the Kimber committee, this week proposed a compromise. The exchange would continue to allow primary distribution through its facilities but would set up a separate listing in which would be included companies in the process of selling treasury shares.

Under this set-up, at least the public will not be misled into believing that shares under primary distribution are being traded on a strict public supply and demand basis.

The public will know that any shares on the separate listing are being pushed by the promoters and they can be wary of the rumor-mongering and market rigging which too often accompanies this sort of operation.

This is a welcome step forward by the Toronto exchange and one which should be followed immediately by all other Canadian markets.

If the other exchanges will not follow the Toronto lead, they will help to perpetuate the widespread impression among Canadians that the stock market is only a place for gamblers—an impression which undoubtedly contributes much to the reluctance of Canadians to put their money into equities of all kinds.

The raising of capital for any purpose, be it mining, oil, industry or financial operations should be a respectable business. The bad publicity which follows the collapse of every mining boom cannot help but taint the whole stock market and make it more difficult to raise capital for any new venture.

It is often argued that if the stock exchanges bear down too heavily on the speculative mining stocks, the less reputable ones will simply continue to be sold over the counter and the public will be deprived of the protection which the exchanges now afford.

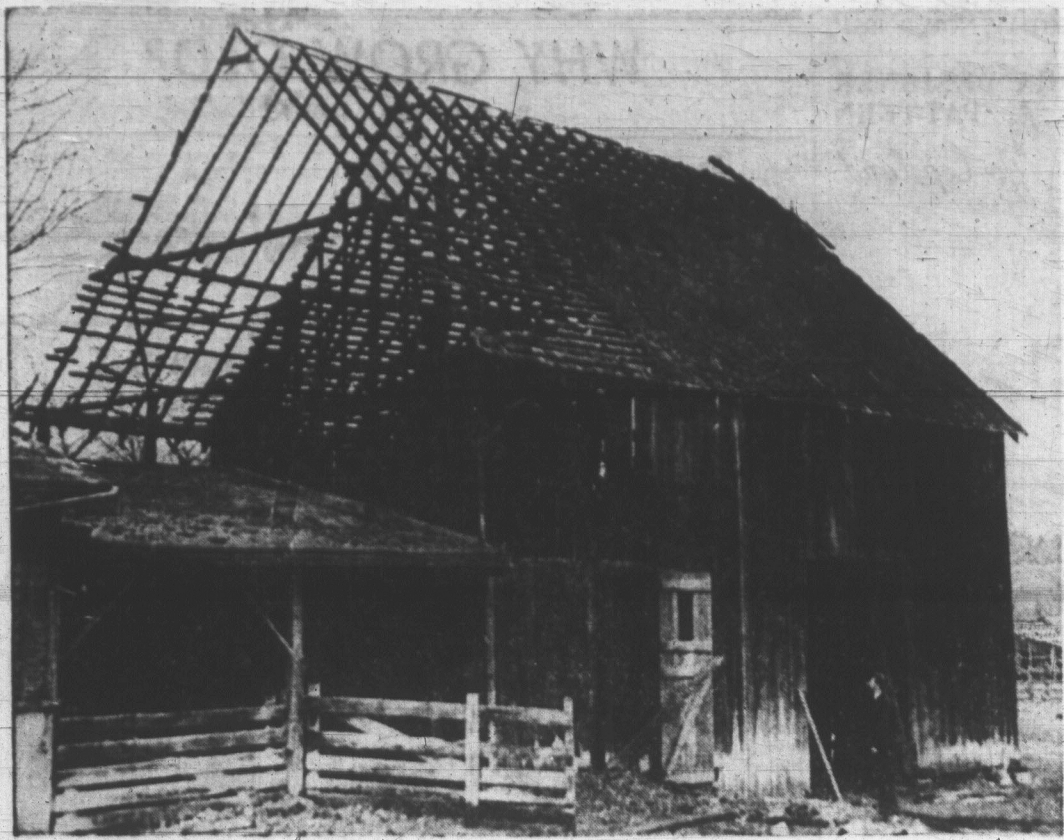

The answer to this is that if the exchanges don't bear down more strongly the public will be left with the impression that the exchanges sanction wild speculation. The people who have lost money when the boom ends and there are always more losers than winners will tend to blame the stock market as such and will be reluctant to invest their savings in any equity situation.

Canadians are much lectured these days on the need to invest in their own country, and chided for being afraid to take financial risks. But, heaven only knows they have been so badly burned in so many speculative schemes and so often swindled by smooth stock market promoters that it is no wonder they prefer to put their money into government bonds or insurance, or even into equities listed on U.S. exchanges where the regulations are uniformly enforced by the federal government.

Canadian stock exchanges too often have about them the atmosphere of gambling pits rather than auction markets and for this they have only themselves to blame. So long as they continue to allow this condition to exist, the bulk of the Canadian public will put its money in the bank, in bonds, or even in a stock, rather than risk it in the stock market.

CHARRED RAFTERS of this burned barn stand out against the sky, after a Saanich arsonist set fire to the barn and farmhouse on the old Turner farm near Sayward Beach. Saanich firemen fought the blaze for five hours, starting just before midnight Sunday.

POPULARITY GROWS EVEN BEFORE VISIT

Victoria is more popular with the Quebec Union of Municipalities than it thought.

Civic officials learned that about 300 mayors and their wives—about 100 more than expected last week—will arrive here Saturday for a projected three-day visit.

"It shows how much interest they have in seeing other parts of the country and bringing goodwill from Quebec province," Mayor R. B. Wilson commented.

"We'll have to change our plans slightly for their reception but it won't be any inconvenience."

DON INGHAM

Detectives Get Good Lead On Suspect

An arsonist set fire to a Saanich farmhouse Sunday night, then touched off a barn 500 feet away as firemen fought the first blaze.

Saanich firemen battled the flames in both unoccupied buildings for nearly five hours.

And Saanich police said this morning the two fires at the old Turner farm on Sayward Road were definitely arson.

GOOD LEAD

Fire Chief Joseph Sutherland said he understands the detective department has a good lead on the arsonist.

Owner of the property is Marwell Construction Ltd. of Vancouver, a company planning to develop a $22 million housing estate on the old farm site.

Hugh A. Martin, president of the company, first heard of the fires from the Times this morning.

He said the buildings would probably have been demolished anyway.

Saanich firemen got the alarm about 11:20 on Sunday night.

Four off-duty firemen were called in to help the regular shift.

More than 3,000 feet of hose had to be laid to get enough water from the nearest hydrant, and a tank truck sent to the fire used its entire supply.

Firemen left the farm at about 4 a.m.

STARTED IN KITCHEN

The blaze in the farmhouse apparently started in the kitchen, burning through the roof and leaving the house just a charred husk.

The barn fire started in hay stored on the second floor.

Chief Sutherland said his men were already fighting the house fire when the barn blaze broke out.

He said there were "a number of men" around while he was at the scene.

The old wooden structure was heavily damaged.

Although he said the fires "won't hinder us," Mr. Martin said he is concerned.

"I'd hate to see a fire get started through those trees," he said.

OBSELETE

Mr. Martin said he didn't think the buildings had been insured, and did not give an estimate of their worth.

"They were pretty obsolete," he said.

The buildings had been unoccupied since the last residents, Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, moved to Mara Lake, in the B.C. interior.

The Turner family had closed the property since 1934, until Marwell Construction Limited bought it.

100 HOMES

Marwell plans to develop the 204-acre site into 400 luxury homes with a golf course and marina.

"We're just waiting for the pollution control board to tell us what they want us to build" for sewage disposal, said Mr. Martin.

APPEAL DRIVE NUDGES PAST 85% LEVEL

Victoria United Appeal Fund today passed the 85 per cent mark.

At noon, the figure stood at $319,216, 85.2 per cent of the $100,000 goal.

Helping boost funds over the weekend was an appeal booth set up at Yates and Douglas Saturday. During its first day it brought in $41.50.

The booth, which will remain until the target is reached, is being manned by representatives from the 24 appeal agencies.

Reservation System To Return

A reservation system for Gulf Islands ferries will be reinstituted immediately following the stranding Friday night of 16 Island residents in Tsawwassen.

Reservations will be available Fridays and Sundays at least until the hunting season is over so the situation isn't repeated, Monty Aldous, B.C. Ferries general manager, said today.

UNEXPECTED

Reservations can be made in summer months but winter traffic is usually so light it is dispensed with.

He said a "totally unexpected" influx of passengers, mainly hunters, showed up for the 9:30 p.m. ferry and there "simply wasn't space" for all of them.

He thought there was "no point" in making a second trip because it would be about 4 a.m. before the stranded persons reached their homes.

Mayne Island resident F. G. Greenslade thought traffic going to one of the main islands could have gone first and the ferry returned for the others on a second trip.

Coffee With Governor Launches 4-H Youths' Trip of a Lifetime

Fourteen British Columbia teen-agers are leaving today to meet Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson in Ottawa.

Five of the 14 top 4-H Club members from B.C. awarded a week-long trip to Eastern Canada for the annual national 4-H conference, are from Vancouver Island.

They are Kris Andrews, 4225 Blenkinsop Rd.; Don Alberg, 1516 Mount Douglas Cross Rd.; Bruce Wilson, 11326 West Saanich Rd.; Shirley McLean of Alberni; and Katherine Milne of Errington, now living in Vancouver.

They were picked for the trip on the basis of leadership ability, their 4-H record and their knowledge of current events.

COFFEE PARTY

They met the other 10 young British Columbians here over the weekend and went to a coffee party with Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes at Government House this morning.

They were to board a train bound for the East in Vancouver tonight.

One of the highlights of their trip will be when Prime Minister Pearson presents them with citizenship certificates at a banquet next Friday in Ottawa.

They will start their 4-H conference Thursday.

SONG BOOK

To help things along the youngsters have been given a booklet containing the lyrics of French and English songs, including "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover," "Alouette" and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Tracking Dog Leads Police To Escapee

Second Man Found On Prison Grounds

Prison guards and police Sunday recaptured a convict who escaped from jail and found another prisoner who had disappeared but never managed to get off the prison grounds.

The escapee from Wilkinson Road Jail got away Saturday afternoon and was apprehended Sunday morning at Glen Road and Wilkeson.

A 33-year-old prisoner at William Head minimum security unit, who vanished in dense fog Thursday night, was found in an unused building on the prison property.

WORKED AT PIGGERY

Paul Toth, a 41-year-old Yugoslav immigrant, was serving a two-year term at Wilkinson Road Jail on burglary charges. He made his getaway while working at the prison piggery.

Police said he obtained a change of clothes in a break-in and then discarded his prison work clothes. He was spotted by two prison guards near 7320 West Saanich Road shortly before 11 Sunday morning.

Central Saanich police joined the search and Toth was tracked down by Rex, the Saanich police dog. He was to appear in Saanich court this afternoon charged with two break-ins and with escaping custody.

James William White, an Ontario man, was serving a four-year term at William Head for false pretences. He disappeared in heavy fog that rolled over the sprawling prison Thursday night.

A prison spokesman said today that White was found in an unheated and unoccupied building on prison property.

White has been transferred to the B.C. Penitentiary at New Westminster where disciplinary action will be taken against him.

HAD FOOD

He will not be charged with escaping custody since he apparently never left the prison grounds. Prison authorities began to suspect White hadn't got away when it was established he had not left Vancouver Island or been sighted in the Victoria area.

He was wearing only light clothing when found and had some food that was pilfered from the prison kitchen.

DIVERS SEEK BODY

Navy divers were searching this afternoon for the body of a woman which is suspected to be in deep water off Brothie Ledge.

H. Skinner, 2639 Blanshard, told police he was jogging for cold Sunday morning when his line snagged a heavy object at the bottom.

He managed to raise the object about six feet before it fell off his line. When he retrieved the line there was a white woman's brassiere attached. It appeared new, he said.

Mr. Skinner threw the piece of clothing back in the sea. Later, on thinking it over, he contacted police.

The object he hooked lies about 1,000 feet to the south-west of Brothie Ledge in about 400 feet of water.

RCMP were notified by city police and this morning called in Navy divers to aid in the search.

Full Minister For Labor Demanded

B.C.'s Young Socialists Saturday demanded a change in Premier W. A. C. Bennett's cabinet.

They voted 70 to 7 at their Vancouver convention for a full-time minister of labor.

At present Labor Minister Leslie Peterson also holds the education portfolio.

Joseph Bruch of Victoria, a Young Socialist vice-president, said the resolution was proposed by his delegation and backed by Metchoshin.

BRUCH'S BROTHER

His brother, Herbert, represents Esquimalt for the Socialists in the provincial legislature.

"We felt it was about time to let our voice be known," Mr. Bruch said.

The resolution said B.C.'s economy is expanding at an astronomical rate and because of this a great deal depends on the creation of new jobs.

FULL TIME

This and the impact of automation warrant the undivided attention of a full-time cabinet minister, it said.

"We demand a full-time minister of labor be appointed immediately," the resolution said.

The Young Socialists also urged B.C. Hydro to maintain student bus fares at their present level.

They also suggested that college students be granted the same low fares—five cents during school hours.

Ex-Coroner Scuffles With Desperate Man

A drug addict who robbed an elderly doctor of his medical bag Saturday night pleaded guilty today to robbery with violence.

Kenneth Jay attacked 74-year-old Dr. J. H. Moore, a former city coroner, at his home, 2941 Sea View Road.

In Saanich court, Magistrate J. A. Byers said he did not want to hear details of the crime until another person, charged along with Jay, comes to trial.

He is Edward Stevens, who pleaded not guilty to robbery with violence when he appeared in court.

Stevens was remanded to Thursday when a date for his trial will be fixed.

Jay will appear for sentence on the charge Nov. 23.

'I'M SICK'

Both Stevens and Jay asked the magistrate to "send a doctor down to us."

Jay told Magistrate Byers, "You know I'm an addict. I'm sick right now. I'm sick."

The magistrate said jailers would call a doctor if they need treatment.

SCUFFLED

Dr. Moore told police that he went to his garage to lock his car about 8:30 Saturday night. He saw a man removing his medical bag and grappled with him.

The robber told the doctor, "I'm sick," and the two of them scuffled. The man wrestled free of Dr. Moore's grasp but the doctor caught him again and tore his attacker's jacket.

The man broke free and got away in a waiting car. Stevens and Jay were picked up by police several hours later.

'Obvious Car Going To Hit Us'

A former beauty contest winner told in court this morning of the accident in which her husband was killed while he sat in front of her in their car.

Mrs. Valerie Shick, 1558 Earle Place, was testifying at the preliminary hearing of a charge of criminal negligence against Joseph C. Chambers, 50, of 957 Westing Road.

Chambers is accused of causing the death of Leading Seaman Warner Shick, of HMCS Naden, in a two-car collision at Craigflower and Aral early on the morning of Oct. 21.

Mrs. Shick said she and her husband were driving a friend home to Belmont Park. Earlier the Shicks had been to a movie downtown. They met the friend about 11:30 and the three of them had one beer and a sandwich each at a downtown hotel.

She said that as they drove along Craigflower "I just remember lights coming at us."

It was obvious this was a car that was going to hit us," she said.

She said she doesn't remember the impact. Mrs. Shick said she suffered a broken nose, jaw and cheekbone in the collision and required plastic surgery for a facial wound.

Mrs. Shick testified that the car driven by her husband was proceeding "at no more than 35 mph" and was on its own side of the road.

The hearing is continuing.

Man Breaks Leg Fleeing Party, Police Officer

A 25-year-old man broke his leg while trying to escape after police broke up a rowdy party at a house in the 400-block Powell early Sunday.

When police arrived on the scene after complaints from neighbors they were greeted with a hail of beer bottles from an upstairs window.

The bottles narrowly missed Dogmaster George Barr and Constable Bud Curry. When police succeeded in getting the door open, the people inside scattered.

One fled carrying a case of beer and tried to jump a fence with it. He fell and broke his leg. The officer who had been chasing him took him to hospital.

Police are investigating.

Ask The Times

Q. Did the names of Goldwater and Johnson appear on all the ballot slips used in the recent election. What role does the electoral vote play in election of the president or vice-president? M. P.

A. Not necessarily. Each state that is legally on the ballot offers its slate of Electoral College candidates. In some states, those are the only names on the ballot.

In others, the Electoral College names do not appear but the candidates' names are used and a vote for the candidate is a vote for the slate of electors of his party.

Some states use both the candidates' and electors' names.

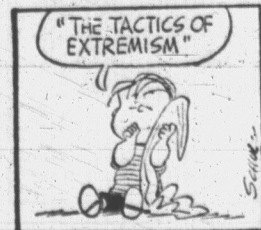

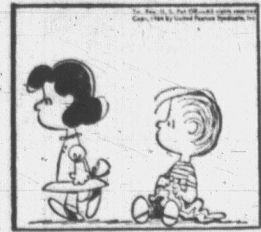

The Electoral College has the constitutional responsibility of electing the president and vice-president of the U.S.

There are 538 electoral votes—435 for the number of seats in the House of Representatives, 100 for the number of seats in the Senate and three for the District of Columbia.

The party with the major vote captures all the electoral votes in each state. A minimum of 270 votes is needed to elect.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve constitutional or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times." Editor, questions and answers will be published daily.

DUMP DIEFENBAKER CAMPAIGN 'GAINING'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The man who coined the "Follow John" slogan used by the Conservatives in 1958 said Monday he is receiving strong support for a "dump Diefenbaker" campaign.

Frank Bernard, manager of a hotel and well-known member of the British Columbia Conservative party, said there is a local feeling that John Diefenbaker should be dropped as leader of the national party.

"The party has to get rid of him," he said in an interview. "But nobody has the guts to do it."

Mr. Bernard's slogan was used in the 1958 election campaign which saw Mr. Diefenbaker form a Conservative government.

He announced he received strong local support during the weekend after he announced Saturday that he wired E. Davie Fulton, B.C. Conservative leader, asking him to seek the national leadership.

He said he had not heard from Mr. Fulton, former Conservative justice and public works minister who lives in Kamloops, B.C.

"I imagine Davie is wrestling with the biggest decision of his life," he said.

Mr. Fulton has already said he is not seeking to oust Mr. Diefenbaker from the national leadership.

Japanese Select New Pro-Western PremierSATO
... ends deadlock

TOKYO (UPI) — Pro-western Eisaku Sato was elected prime minister of Japan by parliament today to succeed the ailing Hayato Ikeda. He was hand-picked by Ikeda in a dramatic bedside conference that broke a political deadlock.

Sato announced he will retain the entire cabinet that served under Ikeda. The government lineup will include Ichiro Kono, Sato's chief rival in the two-week struggle for the premiership. Kono will serve as minister without portfolio for the time being.

Sato is expected to maintain Japan's close relationship with the United States, and keep the country firmly in the western camp. But he is not expected to halt Japan's increasing trade with Communist China, started in the Ikeda regime.

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — Some 25 persons combined to rescue a 24-year-old girl early today after she broke her leg when she slipped during a hiking trip on Seymour Mountain and fell 1000 feet.

Lorna Ridley lay helpless and in shock 11 hours from early afternoon until she was carried by chairlift and ambulance to the foot of the mountain at 1 a.m.

25 Killed As Truck Plunges in Ravine

Fifteen of the peasants were seriously injured in the accident, which happened near Van, in eastern Turkey.

Good Weather for Big Calgary Game

CALGARY (CP) — Weather conditions for tonight's second game of the Western Football Conference total-point semifinal series between Calgary Stampeders and Saskatchewan Roughriders should be ideal, weather officials report.

"Chances of snow are nil and it looks like a chinook (warm winds and moderate temperatures) will be blowing by game time," the officials said.

Yugoslav Jaundice Epidemic Kills 58

BELGRADE (UPI) — A total of 58 persons have died in southern Bosnia during an outbreak of infectious jaundice in the past four days, the official news agency Tanjug said today.

Soviet A-A Missiles
Taken Over by Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Castro regime in Cuba now has at least partial control over Soviet anti-aircraft missiles on the island, a state department spokesman said today.

State department press officer Robert J. McCloskey also told a press conference that Soviet military personnel remaining in Cuba now number "no more than a few thousand."

He said they were not an organized force but an advisory and training mission.

McCloskey made these points in responding to questions about statements made by Premier Fidel Castro in an interview with the New York Times.

Castro was quoted as saying Cubans control the surface-to-air missiles which the Soviet Union installed at 24 bases at the time of the big nuclear missile crisis in 1962.

He also said Cuba was prepared to shoot down U.S. U-2 reconnaissance planes unless some legal means could be found to end the surveillance flights.

COUNCIL WARNING

Owners, Labor
Told to Agree

OTTAWA (CP) — Management and labor leaders have been told bluntly that they must either learn to co-operate or face government intervention as the public becomes fed up with "power bargaining" and phoney disputes.

The warning is contained on one of five special studies commissioned by the Economic Council of Canada for the National Conference on Labor-Management relations, which opened today behind closed doors.

These are some of the conclusions in the study prepared by Dr. W. Donald Wood, professor of economics and director of the industrial relations centre at Queen's University:

1. Developments in labor-management co-operation in Canada are so scattered, and many are so recent, that it is difficult to generalize about them.

2. Despite an improved economic climate and outlook, Canada still faces the problems of automation, persistent unemployment, changes in the structure of the labor force, increasing international competition, changing market structures, lagging growth rates, and the problem of getting "appropriate incomes and price structures."

3. "... In the field of collective bargaining, there are indications that unless labor and management take a more constructive approach toward problems, eliminating various kinds of unnecessary conflict, free collective bargaining may well be restricted in view of the above economic problems and a declining public tolerance of power bargaining."

3. Labor-management co-operation could contribute greatly to national unity "at a time when there appears to be increasing fragmentation across the country and an unintended drift into narrow provincialism. This trend is perhaps one of the greatest obstacles to an effective attack on many of our economic problems."

4. It is important to distinguish between labor-management conflict which is constructive and that which is unnecessary. "The study indicates that there is still a great deal of the latter in Canadian industry."

"It stems from lack of knowledge on the part of labor and management about what their mutual interests are and about the nature of the problems facing them; from lack of understanding about the other's role in industry, which is often at the root of what I have referred to as phoney conflict; and from lack of mechanisms at the different levels of the economy to facilitate more co-operative attitudes and practices."

THE TROUBLES OF ERHARD

German Logic Too Perfect
To Cope With New Events

Bruce Hutchison, eminent Canadian author and former Times editor, has recently completed a tour of Europe. He has written a series of articles on his observations, the second of which appears below.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
BONN — As explained by its official spokesman at Bonn, the West German government's basic policies have a perfect logic and symmetry. Doubtless they are too perfect and symmetrical to fit this imperfect and illogical world.

The economic and political integration of Europe, the reunification of the severed German state, the reconciliation of the United States and France lest Germany be forced to choose between its two closest friends, and the admission of Britain to the European Common Market — these grand objectives are easily proclaimed and were proclaimed by the official spokesmen with an impressive mixture of confidence and candor.

As he met me, with his excellent English accent, in a committee room adjoining the Bundestag much was happening there, and elsewhere.

Only an hour before Chancellor Erhard—a plump, solid and immensely able man who looks rather like Santa Claus with the beard shaved off—had solemnly assured a restive parliament that Nikita Khrushchev would soon arrive in Bonn and his visit would produce a softening of the Russian attitude toward German reunification.

Blue-Eyed Linda
Tops Field of 20

The most beautiful girl in Canada comes from Sidney.

Tall, blue-eyed Linda Douma was named Miss Canada 1965 Sunday night, becoming the first girl from Greater Victoria and Saanich to win the title.

Nina Holden of Victoria was awarded the title in 1962, but by default, when the actual winner refused to accept the position.

Linda's success will bring fame to Sidney and the surrounding district.

She has shown that Saanich is not only famous for its gardens and scenery but, beautiful girls with "oomph," poise and talent.

The 20-year-old brunett was chosen queen from among 20 contestants at the National Beauty Pageant in Toronto.

'HAPPIEST MOMENT'

As for Linda, who was judged Miss PNE in 1963, the victory was the happiest and most exciting moment in her life.

"I can't believe it. I'm so happy," was all she could say after the judges announced their decision.

Then there were tears of joy. In a telephone conversation with a friend in Victoria after the contest she said: "I'm thrilled beyond words, but oh I'm tired. I think I'll sleep all day today."

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Douma, thanked the Sidney Lions Club for sponsoring their daughter.

"We were surprised and happy," they said.

Mrs. Douma said Linda's success will mean she will lose a year at the university.

"But she will continue her studies at the university next year," she said. "She is vitally interested in her education."

John E. Callard, president of the Sidney Lions Club, said he was "the happiest guy in town."

FIRST PROJECT

He and members shared the responsibility of raising funds to send Linda to Toronto. It was also the club's first project since the club was formed earlier this year.

"Some people thought Linda wouldn't stand a chance of winning because all the judges of the pageant are Easterners," he said.

Commissioner A. A. Cormack, chairman of the Sidney Village commission said: "We are proud of Linda. She is a Continued on Page 2"

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police are investigating the death of a young Indian woman whose body was found in an east end lane early today. They said there were no signs of violence on the body of the woman, believed to be in her early twenties. But they said she may have been pushed or pulled from a car.

LEADERS
ON FLAG

OTTAWA — The government and opposition remained at odds on the flag issue today as Prime Minister Pearson announced the Commons legislative program for the remainder of the present session.

Five items — including the flag — were given top priority by the government. They included redistribution, the new labor code, the pension plan and departmental estimates.

Mr. Pearson said these items would have to be passed before the Christmas recess and end of the session. He gave no indication in which order these items will be introduced.

The flag issue, although included in the priority list, was shelved for at least one week.

The party leaders met today but failed to reach an agreement on the legislative program.

There were reports that debate on the flag committee report might begin on Monday.

The Commons was to debate the pension plan resolution today, clearing the way for introduction of the bill, then spend the rest of the week on redistribution of electoral boundaries and on departmental estimates.

PROPOSAL BY DIF

Opposition leader Diefenbaker proposed that the government bring the original flag resolution back before the House so it could be voted on with respect to the sub amendment and amendment, which calls for a plebiscite on the issue.

This would clear the way for withdrawal of the government's original three maple leaf flag proposal from the Commons order paper.

If this was done, Mr. Diefenbaker said, the Opposition would refrain from further debate on the resolution in order to clear the way for the vote, then move on with the flag committee report which advocates adoption of the single red maple leaf design.

Mr. Pearson said the government would accept this proposal Continued on Page 12

'Wizard of Id'
New Comic Strip

"The Wizard of Id" (a brand new comic strip) is introduced to Times readers today.

Creation of cartoonists Brant Parker and Johnny Hart, it centres around an apprentice sorcerer who parleys medieval mirth and magic into a bunch of the most unimaginable characters.

There's King Id, a "tyrant's tyrant," Rodney, the cowardly but cunning knight, Bund the Jester, Duke of Marinello the playboy, Evil Spirit, described as the "frustrated figment of the alter ego", and of course, the Wizard, along with others.

The Wizard and Spirit

The creators claim the Wizard provides fast, fast, relief for headaches, nervous tension or what have you.

Vote Tests Set in East

By United Press International

Voters in two federal constituencies head for the polls today in by-elections that are expected to leave the standings in the House of Commons unchanged.

The Liberals are expected to retain their traditional seat in Westmorland, New Brunswick, vacant since the death last June of Sherwood Rideout.

At the same time, the Conservatives are favored to win in the Ontario-riding of Waterloo-South which has been Conservative all but twice since 1900.

Angry Partners Accuse U.K.

GENEVA (Reuters)—Britain's partners in the European Free Trade Association today accused her of "unfair play" . . . hitting below the belt . . . and causing a "crisis of confidence" in the seven-member organization.

Businessmen and industrialists fired these accusations at Douglas Jay, president of the British board of trade, after he had explained and defended Britain's 15-per-cent surcharge at a meeting of EFTA's consultative committee here.

Jay repeated Britain's argument that she had no alternative but to impose the temporary surcharge to help reduce its balance of payments gap. He said Britain had decided against trying to soften the impact of the import restrictions on its EFTA partners by speeding up its scheduled timetable for eliminating duties on products from these countries.

Jay said Britain had examined this idea "most carefully" but in the end it proved not practical.

SIU Support Of Liberals Not Proved

OTTAWA (CP)—A weekend check of labor department files here has failed to turn up any documents showing the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.) made pre-election payments to five Liberal candidates in 1962 and one in 1957, a department source said today.

Labor Minister MacEachen ordered the search after the Toronto Star reported in a copy-right story Friday that the working papers of the Norris commission contain such evidence.

Papers of the Norris commission, which investigated the SIU in 1962, are divided between the files of the labor department here and those of the maritime union trustees in Montreal.

Mr. MacEachen was expected to make a brief statement on the matter to the Commons later today.

providing there was agreement, not reached so far, on a time limit to debate on the committee's report.

30 WANT TO SPEAK

Mr. Diefenbaker reiterated his party's refusal to set a time limit, saying there were some 30 Conservatives who wished to speak to the report.

New Democrat leader T. C. Douglas called on the government to make sure the Commons dealt with the Pension plan, the labor code, redistribution and departmental estimates before bringing on the flag debate. He said his party was not prepared to allow these legislative items to be "sidetracked" by a prolonged flag debate.

Creditiste house leader Gilles Gregoire lashed out at Diefenbaker for his "ill-will."

He maintained that, if the official opposition had attended the party leaders' meetings with good will, an understanding could have been reached.

Railways in 'Chaos'

ROME (AP)—Italy's big Red labor confederation kept the nation's railway system in chaos for the second day today, striking in the midst of an election campaign in which communism has become the biggest issue.

Missionaries Hunted

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Belgian helicopter crews searched during the weekend for 29 German Roman Catholic missionaries kidnapped by rebels in the northwest Congo.

HOUSEWIFE TO CONTEST MAYORALTY

LADYSMITH—Mrs. Kathleen Grouhel, a housewife, will contest the mayorality in Ladysmith next month.

She will be the standard-bearer for the Ladysmith Ratepayers' Association against incumbent Len Ryan.

Mrs. Grouhel, "the unanimous choice of the 12 men on the nominating committee," said the main plank in her election platform would be a call for a capital works plan.

Tom Davidson, a former commissioner, and John Cochrane, were nominated aldermanic candidates and a third name will be added on the weekend to complete the ratepayers' slate.

Veterans Day Last Big Show For Militiamen

Militia men have their last chance for a mass turnout Wednesday before disbandment of some units.

Remembrance Day parade marking the 50th anniversary of the First World War and 25th Militia Group commander Col. Peter Ramsay said.

He hopes for at least 250 men and women on parade, for many of them the last opportunity to march in public with their units.

Ottawa's order to close down some units must be carried out by next March 31.

"But it would be a mistake to turn the key in the lock and go away," said Col. Ramsay, whose group headquarters is one of the units to go.

"There is a lot of work to be done, such as closing stores, discharging personnel, and a lot of assistance will be required to bring about these changes."

"We are waiting for details. No one can say yet what individuals will definitely stay on. There are new standards of qualification, new medical requirements, that we don't know yet," Col. Ramsay said.

It is indicated the new establishment figure for Vancouver Island may be 500 persons, all ranks. There was no limiting figure under the existing system, but militia men numbered 1,000.

Units folding are expected to have their own individual parades before the deadline is reached.

Under the proposed militia organization, there will be two colonels to act as advisors for all units in B.C. area. Col. Ramsay has had no official word on these appointments, he said.

PARKSVILLE—Trade and Commerce Minister Ralph Lofmark will be guest speaker at the annual installation banquet of Parksville and District Chamber of Commerce.

The banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 26.

Small Turnout Approves Sooke School Referendum

A minority of voters put through a $1.4-million school construction referendum in Sooke School District on Saturday.

An 88.03 per cent affirmative vote was recorded.

Only about 18 per cent of the eligible voters—1,108 out of 6,340—cast ballots.

The margin of victory drew grateful response from school trustees.

Chairman John Williams said: "This is possibly the most important day in the history of the Sooke school district. The referendum is three times the size of any previous referendum."

But he was disappointed more voters didn't turn out.

"If people don't support these votes they may find they will lose the privilege of voting on referendums," he said.

He referred to a B.C. School Trustees' Association resolution calling for the abolition of school construction referendums. The proposed steps would require only school board and department of education approval to proceed.

Mr. Williams said the referendum guarantees introduction of vocational courses in 1965 as recommended by the education department.

"Without the referendum and the buildings and equipment it will supply, it would have been impossible to provide these courses."

There is a 30-day waiting period required before actual work on the construction program can start.

But school trustees will begin planning the program and talks with architects and departmental planners immediately.

PRIORITY LIST

A priority list will be drawn up, likely to be headed by a new, six-room plus activity area, Savory Elementary School.

This will provide for 114 pupils now taking classes in a former Legion hall and army huts at Belmont Senior Secondary School.

The earliest possible use of this new school would be about Easter time.

Bonded Stock is in the best shape ever.

Our whisky doesn't come in those old bottles anymore. Those fine old bottles have launched their last sips. We've designed these new containers for Bonded Stock. Plus matching new labels. And we age Bonded Stock longer now as well. This makes every drop just a little more mellow. One thing though, Bonded Stock's smooth lightness we don't change. Our blenders know a good thing when they taste it. Judging from the number of people who buy Bonded Stock, so does the rest of the country.
